THE COURT: All right. Good morning.

Ms. Rudd, would you call the morning docket.

THE CLERK: Yes, your Honor.

The Court calls the following cases for sentencing:
The United States of America versus Hysen Sherifi.

MR. McAFEE: Good morning, your Honor. Robert McAfee for Mr. Sherifi. He's in custody and we're ready to proceed.

THE COURT: Very good. Thank you.

THE CLERK: The United States of America versus Mohammad Omar Aly Hassan.

1 MR. BOYCE: Good morning, your Honor. Happy new 2 year to you. Dan Boyce on behalf of Mr. Hassan.

3 With the Court's permission, we would ask the Court to 4 allow us to go first. But, if not --

5 THE COURT: Yes, you will be first.

6 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

7 THE CLERK: The United States of America versus 8 Ziyad Yaghi.

9 MR. AYERS: Good morning, your Honor. Jim Ayers 10 for Mr. Yaghi. He's in custody, and I would ask if I could be 11 allowed to sit up here?

12 THE COURT: Yes, you may. And to each of the 13 defense attorneys, while during the course of the trial there 14 was not room for staff, if there is someone in your office 15 that you would wish to have with you to assist in your 16 presentation, you're welcome to invite that person forward.

17 MR. AYERS: Thank you, your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Mr. Hassan.

19 (Defendant Mohammad Omar Aly Hassan entered the 20 courtroom.)

21 A. This is the time that the Court's set aside for sentencing 22 in the case of United States of America versus Mohammad Omar 23 Aly Hassan. I want to inform you how the hearing will 24 proceed.

25 As counsel is familiar, the Court must fashion a

1 sentence that is sufficient, but not greater than necessary to 2 accomplish the goals of sentencing. And the Court is required 3 to begin the sentencing decision by correctly calculating the 4 advice of the guidelines.

5 The sentencing guidelines are a tool implemented by 6 Congress to suggest an appropriate sentence based primarily on 7 the offense at issue and the defendant's criminal history.

8 I may accept the undisputed portion of the report as a 9 finding of fact in establishing the guideline range.

10 And in this instance much in the report is disputed.

11 If you have objected to any aspect of the report, the 12 Court must resolve those objections. And, in this instance, 13 it's necessary to resolve certain objections before certain 14 other ones, so the course of the hearing will proceed subject 15 to that.

16 The burden is on the government to prove facts 17 underlying any enhancement, and the same burden is on the 18 defendant to prove any downward adjustment is warranted.

19 Now, the sentencing guidelines are advisory, and the 20 Court has substantial discretion to impose a sentence either 21 above or below the guideline range, if necessary to accomplish 22 the purposes of sentencing. And the Court need not, under 23 current law, determine that the guideline range is a 24 reasonable one.

25 Now, after I've calculated the advisory guideline

1 sentence for you, Mr. Hassan, I must allow, as I will, both 2 sides the opportunity to argue for whatever sentence they feel 3 is appropriate. And the factors set forth in 18 United States
4 Code, Section 3553, are focused on sharply at this point.

5 The Court will base it's sentencing decision on the 6 nature, circumstances and seriousness of the offense and the 7 defendant's criminal conduct.

8 The Court will also fashion and sentence that regards 9 the need to promote respect for the law, as required, that 10 provides just punishment, that deters this type of conduct, 11 that protects the public from further criminal activity, and 12 provides the defendant with any needed training or medical 13 treatment.

14 Now, before I fashion the sentence finally, the Court 15 will give certainly the defendant individually the opportunity 16 to speak, and then I will fashion a sentence based on an 17 assessment of the 3553 factors and the information made 18 available. And I'll explain why I chose that particular 19 sentence.

20 Now, Mr. Boyce, from your representation many times 21 before the Court, you're well familiar with this process. Are 22 there any questions that the defendant would have at the start 23 of this sentencing hearing?

24 MR. BOYCE: There are not, your Honor. We've been 25 through it all. We're ready to proceed.

1 THE COURT: Very good.

2 Mr. Hassan, have you had enough time to review the 3 presentence report? It's a very lengthy one.

4 DEFENDANT HASSAN: Yes, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Are you ready for sentencing today?

6 DEFENDANT HASSAN: Yes, ma'am.

7 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated.

8 The defendant is here to be sentenced upon return of a 9 jury verdict of guilty to the crime of conspiring to provide 10 material support to terrorists. The Court picks up this over 11 100 page presentence report, and this probably brings the 12 Court fairly quickly to the nature of the government's 13 objection that by the process that the defendant has engaged 14 in to object to the report, that he has short-circuited normal 15 procedures as set forth in the Court's local rules and the 16 Rules of Criminal Procedure for noting objections to the 17 proposed findings of the presentence report.

18 I don't think it's necessary to take up the 19 government's motion to deny defendant's demands and objections 20 to the presentence report. I think the point is made, and 21 correctly so, that this is very unusual and not normal, and 22 does thwart the advocacy process to some degree. But I'm 23 going to deny that motion and reflect on what the government 24 has presented, though, in considering a sentence that's 25 sufficient but not greater than necessary.

1 Now, the offense conduct is set forth in the 2 presentence report, and I also don't find favor with 3 defendant's arguments that the probation officer should take 4 defendant's presentation and make that a part of the 5 presentence report.

6 The defendant objects, but going forward with what the 7 probation office has put here, there's a very thoughtful 8 explanation of the charges and convictions at issue. The 9 related case is disputed, but the name Bajram Asllani is 10 referred to. The offense conduct is set forth here with 11 regard to the information made available to the probation 12 office. I'll take up any particular objections shortly.

13 The probation officer didn't, as I don't think they 14 usually do, have opportunity to reflect on the trial 15 transcript; but I presided over the lengthy trial and am very 16 familiar with the evidence presented in this case.

17 Now, the probation officer also turns my attention and 18 the defendant's to the defendant's criminal history, which, 19 for Mr. Hassan, began at the age of 16. Mr. Hassan is 20 presented here as a mid-level criminal offender with Category 21 III. Between I and VI he's deemed a Category III criminal.

22 I note he assaulted someone by pointing a gun at the 23 age of 16, and was found guilty. He assaulted a female, 24 though the defendant would dispute the circumstances of this.
25 But the Wake County public records reflect that in 2007 he did

1 assault Sonya Zaghloul.

2 At the age of 21 the defendant pleaded guilty to the 3 crime of false imprisonment, and the probation office writes 4 that on December 28 of 2008, that you, Mr. Yaghi, a 5 codefendant in this case, and an individual named Kalled
6 Shanab kidnapped and restrained a North Carolina State 7 University student during a robbery.

8 The probation officer notes that you were charged with 9 aiding and abetting and first-degree kidnapping, but pleaded 10 guilty to the lesser offense, and additionally was charged 11 with aiding and abetting a robbery with a dangerous weapon, 12 but that charge was dismissed.

13 The probation officer notes that the defendant declined 14 to engage in probation and actually served out the full 45 15 days imposed by the sentencing judge. And that information is 16 explained a little further by the defendant in what has been 17 received since this report was made.

18 At the age of 21 the defendant was found guilty of 19 possessing marijuana. There does appear to be an issue of 20 marijuana addiction, as presented here.

21 These activities don't reflect any assessment of points 22 for the other crimes that the defendant was charged with.

23 Between 2005 and 2009 the probation officer indicates 24 that the defendant was charged with a number of offenses that 25 didn't result in an adjudication of guilt. That includes two

1 counts of possession of marijuana in 2005 and 2008; three 2 counts of simple assault spread out over two years, the years 3 2008 and 2009; injury to personal property in 2009; and that 4 same year the defendant was charged with contributing the 5 delinquency of a minor.

6 The defendant's family information is given to the 7 Court. His parents are from Egypt. The defendant was born in 8 this country, and the Court has been given information 9 concerning more particularly the nature of the family 10 relationship.

11 I've reviewed also the information given here 12 concerning substance abuse, and I've commented on that 13 already, as evidenced in the record.

14 The defendant has developed his education up to and 15 including attendance at North Carolina State University and 16 was doing well there.

17 The financial circumstances, Mr. Hassan, are also given 18 to me.

19 And now, with this background that I have reviewed 20 prior to today and commented on here, and also having reviewed 21 all of the letters that have been sent to the Court -- and 22 there are certainly many letters that have been sent -- and 23 the substantial filings that you've made as recently as 24 January 11th, which includes your affidavit, Ms. Zaghloul's 25 affidavit, the affidavits of others, the commentary of a

1 doctor, photographs, your sentencing memorandum -- I've 2 reflected on all of this.

3 I'm not making any decisions; I'm simply telling you 4 what the probation officer now finds. And that is that the 5 base offense level is a 33, that 3 points should be added
6 because you intentionally selected a victim or property 7 because of someone's race, color, religion, national origin, 8 ethnicity, gender, disability. That, moreover, 3 points 9 should be added because there was an intended victim or 10 victims that was a government officer or employee, and the 11 offense was motivated by that status.

12 And this is a substantial issue in this case; that 12 13 points should be added because the offense is a felony that 14 involved or was intended to promote terrorism.

15 And so, under these guidelines that the Court's 16 required to consider and determine the advice of, it's the 17 opinion of the probation officer that this adjustment is also 18 warranted.

19 I believe each of the objections that I've commented on 20 are shared by your codefendants, Mr. Sherifi and Mr. Yaghi.

21 You're also objecting to the 2-point adjustment because 22 you attempted to obstruct or impede the administration of 23 justice. And I believe this is unique to you, and it relates 24 to your directions to Ms. Zaghloul to take down certain 25 postings on a web site and otherwise destroy certain evidence,

1 when it was alleged that you knew you were subject to FBI and 2 federal government oversight at that point in time.

3 The adjusted offense level is a 53. No points have 4 been taken off for acceptance of responsibility.

5 Under the guideline sentencing scheme, it's not 6 possible for the total offense level to be considered 53; 7 rather, it defaults to the 43 number.

8 The terrorism adjustment takes you from a Category III
9 criminal history to a category VI. And so, it has substantial 10 effect on the advice of the guidelines in several respects.

11 And skipping over those many pages of your 12 objections -- I want to come back to those, of course -- but I 13 would refer now to what probation office believes is the 14 advice of the guidelines.

15 All right. With the criminal history category of VI 16 and a total offense level of a 43, as to the crime in the 17 count of conviction, it carries with it a maximum term of 18 imprisonment of not more than 15 years. You cannot be 19 sentenced to more than 15 years. And so, that, in this case, 20 caps the advice of the guidelines.

21 Were it not for the statutory impact, the guideline 22 imprisonment range would have been life in prison. Now it is 23 180 months. That is the advice of the guidelines.

24 You're not eligible for probation under the guidelines, 25 though, by statute, you are, one to five years.

1 Your behavior can be supervised when you get out of 2 prison for as many as three years. The fine could be as much
3 as a quarter-of-a-million dollars. The guidelines suggest a 4 range, however, in your case that starts at $25,000.

5 Restitution is not an issue.

6 There is a $100 special assessment, which is due
7 immediately.

8 Now, Mr. Boyce, I would welcome your thoughts, and I'll 9 give Mr. Bowler an opportunity, as well. What do you think is 10 the most efficient way to go forward to decide the matters 11 that bear on the advice of the guidelines?

12 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor. Your Honor, 13 Mr. Bowler and I talked briefly before Court, and, quite 14 frankly, we think the Court has quite a bit of information in 15 front of you. And it's abundantly apparent that you have read 16 and digested all of that information, and, on behalf of my 17 client, we appreciate that.

18 I do not anticipate regurgitating every single part of 19 that. The Court has had this case two-and-a-half years. You 20 sat through an entire trial for about four weeks. So, you 21 certainly know the facts as well as anyone. So, I do not plan 22 on going through detail by detail.

23 THE COURT: All right.

24 MR. BOYCE: What we tried to do is give to the 25 Court some information in an organized fashion so I can

1 quickly refer to it and just remind the Court where it is in 2 case you have a question.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. BOYCE: And then I'll be free to answer 5 questions.

6 THE COURT: Well, I'll note your diligent 7 advocacy, as you say, over the course of two-and-a-half 8 years. And you have given the Court a great deal of 9 information that will enable the Court to fashion a sentence 10 that's sufficient, but in the greater than necessary. And 11 I'll hear every one of your objections, and I'll make a 12 decision. And when I'm finished and I finally decide the 13 sentence, I'll turn to your client and I'll tell him how he 14 can appeal.

15 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, very much, your Honor. May 16 I proceed?

17 THE COURT: Yes.

18 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

19 Once again, I will try to go through the objections and 20 point out a couple of things. Let me start first with the 21 reason why we've provided information to the Court with the 22 objections and ask that it be made part of the record. It has 23 as its basis a number of reasons.

24 First and foremost, what's in that presentence report
25 can significantly impact Omar Hassan's Bureau of Prison time.

1 He knows he's looking at a potential active sentence, and 2 what's deeply concerned us about what was in the presentence 3 report was a paucity of evidence about information we believe 4 came out at trial and that was contained in the FBI-302s that 5 the probation office said they had reviewed.

6 Just as an example, we have an exhibit that we have 7 provided to the Court, a list of exculpatory information or 8 mitigating information regarding role in the offense. It was 9 just nowhere to be found in the presentence report.

10 That was our concern of, number one, making sure, when 11 you consider the terrorism enhancement, when you consider the 12 role in the offense, and when the Bureau of Prisons considers 13 what to do with Mr. Hassan -- you'll see he's in a yellow 14 outfit. There's a reason for that color that will carry with 15 him when he goes into the Bureau of Prisons system, if you 16 give him more time.

17 So those are -- that's why it's important to us to make 18 sure that the presentence report fairly and accurately 19 presents not only aggravating information and not only the 20 evidence that the government has presented, but also evidence 21 that came out at trial.

22 So, even if it's not within the content of the 23 presentence report, itself, we would have requested that the 24 information we've put in our objections be somehow attached to 25 the presentence report that goes to the Bureau of Prisons.

1 THE COURT: Okay. The presentence report right 2 now is of an extraordinary length. It's 107 pages. And it's 3 your request that this document be tendered to the Bureau of 4 Prisons.

5 MR. BOYCE: The presentence report I've got is 25 6 pages.

7 THE COURT: All right. Well, I've got enveloped 8 into this by the probation office -- and it may just be the 9 manner in which it came into chambers -- your December 28th 10 letter and all of the exhibit.

11 MR. BOYCE: Okay. That's -- you're including that 12 as the presentence --

13 THE COURT: Well, I mean, let's talk about -- what 14 is your intent, because I don't want this to be labeled just 15 by the way it came in on the fax machine or --

16 MR. BOYCE: The only presentence report I've got 17 is 25 pages.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 MR. BOYCE: The presentence report.

20 THE COURT: And so, that's all you're seeking to 21 go into the Bureau of Prisons?

22 MR. BOYCE: No, I'm asking that the other 23 information regarding Mr. Hassan's participation and --

24 THE COURT: Okay, all of that summarized -- I've 25 got a binder, I've got the pictures, and I've got so much

1 that's come in from you, including what was filed on January 2 11th. Let me just sit back and listen to you. All of that,
3 do you want that to go to the Bureau of Prisons?

4 MR. BOYCE: No, your Honor. I think the summaries 5 and the two letters I've sent with the two objections would 6 suffice.

7 THE COURT: All right. There's one letter dated 8 December 28th.

9 MR. BOYCE: Correct; and a letter dated January 5.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, the December 28th 12 letter --

13 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

14 MR. BOYCE: -- which outlines the role in the 15 offense, it directly relates to Mr. Hassan, is only 28 pages.

16 THE COURT: Right.

17 MR. BOYCE: It does have some attachments. We're 18 not asking that the attachments go to the Bureau of Prisons.

19 THE COURT: All right. That's -- the first 20 attachment is Ms. Zaghloul's 2009 affidavit?

21 MR. BOYCE: Correct, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: And so, you're just seeking the 23 letter. And then your next letter?

24 MR. BOYCE: Is January the 5th. That is two 25 letters, but it has the portions from the FBI-302s. It's --

1 the letter's two pages and the list of missing 302 information 2 is about five or six pages. And I can count and give you an 3 exact number, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. BOYCE: Seven pages.

6 THE COURT: All right. And so, that's excluding 7 all of the exhibits between the two?

8 MR. BOYCE: Yes, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: All right. So, that's the request, 10 the narrow request. What says the government?

11 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, Mr. Kellhofer, with the 12 Court's permission, will address the Court on Hassan and 13 Yaghi, and I will address Sherifi.

14 THE COURT: All right.

15 MR. KELLHOFER: Your Honor, we feel this case 16 should be handled like every other case. We don't see any 17 point in the inclusion of those matters to the BOP. They're 18 appropriate and absolutely should be considered by you for 19 purposes here today. The only outcome that we can see is that 20 it would, for some reason, provide the BOP with some incentive 21 or reason to disagree with the outcomes that occur here today.
22 It has no purpose.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. BOYCE: Here's the problem, your Honor. The 25 probation office is not an extension of the U.S. Attorney's

1 Office. I told Mr. Wasco, nothing personal to him or his 2 office, but I was here when the United States Sentencing 3 Guidelines came into effect, and it was to make sure that 4 there was not a disparity of sentences across the United 5 States, but, instead, to have uniformity of sentencing.

6 Therefore, the probation office, as an extension of the 7 judiciary, not the U.S. Attorney's Office, has an obligation
8 to give the Court a fair and impartial and balanced report so 9 the Court can make it's determination. With all due respect 10 to the probation office, that was not done in this case.

11 THE COURT: Okay. I express no opinion on that 12 pronouncement. I am familiar, too, with the responsibilities 13 of the offices.

14 It's within my discretion, and I will allow these two 15 letters to come in and be attached as an addendum to the 16 presentence report to amplify on how the probation office 17 presented Mr. Hassan's objections.

18 Would that be sufficient for you?

19 MR. BOYCE: That would be, your Honor. Thank you, 20 very much.

21 THE COURT: All right. So, with reference to the 22 December 28th letter and with reference to the January 5th 23 letter, both of those will come in as a supplement to the 24 addendum and amplify on the defendant's objections as 25 presented by the probation office.

1 So, let's turn now to those objections and see how 2 efficiently we can move forward. There are some factual ones 3 and there are some legal ones.

4 Did you wish to suggest, Mr. Kellhofer -- I said I 5 would give the government an opportunity to -- Mr. Boyce 6 indicates he's conferred before the start of the hearing, and 7 I appreciate he's identified some efficiencies to you. Do you 8 have anything you want to note, before we go forward, for the 9 government?

10 MR. KELLHOFER: No, not at this time. To the 11 extent I address any of those, I believe it can be worked into 12 our argument after you've heard the defendant.

13 THE COURT: Well, I'd have particular interest in 14 hearing further from the government on some of the legal 15 objections, particularly the terrorism objection, and I'd give 16 you plenty of opportunity to talk, as I'll give you, 17 Mr. Boyce.

18 All right, Mr. Boyce, you object that your client went 19 overseas to do anything other than go to Israel for leisure 20 and vacation?

21 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, again, I think with the 22 Court's acceptance of the information we provided in the 23 objections, that's a starting point. And I'm not going to 24 belabor it. We'd also -- I'd point out to the Court where the 25 additional information is.

1 We've submitted an affidavit to the Court from Omar 2 Hassan. That is -- yes, it's Exhibit A. I believe we have 3 tried to tab for the Court the different sections of the 4 exhibits.

5 Omar Hassan outlines what he was thinking before the 6 trip and during the trip. And I would submit to the Court 7 that Daniel Boyd's testimony was entirely consistent with 8 that. Dylan Boyd's testimony was entirely consistent, and Zak 9 Boyd's testimony was entirely consistent with what Omar Hassan 10 said about that trip.

11 The government, I understand, at the sentencing of 12 Mr. Zak Boyd and Dylan Boyd, basically moved for a downward 13 departure based on substantial assistance and said they've 14 found the information that they presented to the jury to be 15 credible. Therefore, because Omar Hassan's affidavit is 16 entirely consistent with their affidavit, we would submit that 17 there were perfectly legitimate reasons for that trip.

18 Now, I know he has been convicted of conspiracy to 19 provide material support. But, just as importantly, he was 20 found not guilty of conspiracy to kill, murder, maim, kidnap, 21 etc., and I think that is a -- that makes Omar Hassan's case 22 significantly different from any other defendant in this 23 alleged conspiracy.

24 We know, we acknowledge he has been found guilty, and 25 we're at the point now where the Court has to take into

1 consideration he has been found guilty by a jury. Mr. Hassan 2 understands that, too, so we're moving forward on that.

3 But what we wanted to do is to give Omar Hassan's 4 explanation for the trip, consistent with the Boyds, but also 5 other witnesses who were there for the trip. So, the second 6 piece of evidence -- pieces of evidence we've given is found 7 at Tab B -- excuse me, Tab C. Those are the affidavits not 8 only of Mr. Hassan, but Omar Askar, Anas Askar, Mohammed Askar 9 and Sonya Zaghloul.

10 So, I'm not going to regurgitate everything they said 11 about the trip, but we've provided pictures from the trip, 12 their summary of Omar's behavior during the trip. In fact, he 13 didn't talk about trying to reenter Israel or try to be in 14 contact with Mr. Boyd, etc.

15 So, I think, now that we've gotten all that before the 16 Court, we would just ask that the Court take that into 17 consideration.

18 THE COURT: All right. Did you want to be heard 19 specifically, Mr. Kellhofer?

20 MR. KELLHOFER: As to that point alone, your 21 Honor, it would again be our position that this is an 22 adjudicated fact. Trying to take the acquittal and make a 23 grand matter out of it, we think it inappropriate and 24 speculative. And we can go back and forth as to why exactly 25 that occurred.

1 Our position is that the acquittal as to the 956 charge
2 is of no relevance here to these proceedings. The evidence 3 that we presented at trial, we feel, was compelling and it 4 apparently was so to the members of the jury who convicted 5 him.

6 As to the specific 2007 trip, it is our position that 7 the purpose of that trip was in furtherance of the conspiracy 8 of which he was convicted. It is our position that the 9 evidence displayed that. To go back and relitigate these 10 issues is not helpful, in our opinion.

11 THE COURT: Well, the objection is noted, and the 12 inference the defendants argue is argument, but there is 13 certainly evidence that the Court heard, the jury heard, that 14 would impugn the motives of the defendant in traveling 15 overseas in 2007. I make specific reference to Daniel Boyd's 16 testimony, and also I would comment, too, on Elena Mohammad's 17 testimony when she went to Ziyad Yaghi after her son had fled 18 the country. She was told that he had gone to the place where 19 I was the year before. That would be the trip that this 20 defendant took.

21 So, there's some other evidence in the record, and the 22 findings of the probation office, I think, are credible and 23 reliable in this regard. But certainly there were also very 24 innocent reasons to have taken this trip. So, I think there 25 were some mixed motives there.

1 But the burden of proof has been sustained by the 2 government as to that characterization. But I'll certainly 3 hear further from you on that at the end.

4 Now, you have objected to the offense conduct section 5 also as misleading and mischaracterizing this defendant's 6 role. And I'd imagine you'd want to bring to my attention 7 some of what you referred to already.

8 MR. BOYCE: A lot -- quite frankly, a lot of it 9 is.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BOYCE: What we heard at trial was witness 12 after witness after witness say that Mr. Hassan -- they didn't 13 know Mr. Hassan, they didn't participate in any way with 14 Mr. Hassan, that after 2007, as far as the conspiracy is 15 concerned, Mr. Hassan basically disappeared, wasn't part of 16 the ongoing lives of the Boyd family.

17 The three informants never met him, didn't hear of him, 18 or anything. And these informants were paid by the government 19 for years and years and years to infiltrate the Daniel Boyd
20 conspiracy.

21 I think there is a plethora of evidence not only in the 22 FBI-302s, in the list that we've provided to the Court, 23 showing that Mr. Hassan was not an integral part of that 24 conspiracy.

25 At the very most, the only thing the government really

1 presented was Mr. Hassan's interest in jihad, his interest in 2 current events going around the world, and his discussion on 3 Facebook about certain things. And he will stand to you in a 4 few moments before the Court and say, I did and said some 5 stupid things on Facebook, but he recounts not only his 6 communications with Ziyad Yaghi in 2006, when Ziyad Yaghi 7 allegedly went abroad, as nothing more than saying, hey, 8 buddy, how you doing. And they didn't introduce any e-mails 9 or any substantive evidence to suggest that communication back 10 in 2007 was anything but, to use Mr. Boyd's term, benign.

11 Same thing with 2007. After 2007, it seems like the 12 only slice of the pie regarding this conspiracy that the 13 government has presented as against this particular defendant 14 is that 2007 trip, where they went overseas, they got denied 15 entry, they came back home. To me, that is important 16 information in determining whether or not, when we get to that 17 objection, role of offense adjustment.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Well, your objections are noted 19 on the record, but, as you could imagine, I'm also assessing 20 your client, vis-a-vis Mr. Yaghi. And all of this started, 21 according to the testimony, in 2006 with an investigation into 22 Mr. Yaghi and to Mr. Boyd. And then concentric circles came 23 together. There was some overlap. So --

24 MR. BOYCE: And I would point out, your Honor, one 25 very important point about that. I believe this was the

1 testimony at trial. Ziyad Yaghi is the one that got Hassan
2 involved in this whole thing. And they were good buddies.
3 And it was Ziyad Yaghi's contact that even brought 4 Mr. Hassan's into contact with everybody else.

5 THE COURT: I think there was some influence 6 there.

7 Okay, objections to the enhancement under 3A1.1(a).
8 All three defendants object to this enhancement for 9 intentionally selecting any victim or property because of the 10 actual or perceived race, color, religion, national origin or 11 ethnicity.

12 The Court notes that advisory notes to this guideline 13 reference that it's meant to apply to hate crimes, which are 14 defined fairly broadly.

15 The Court must find the defendant intentionally 16 selected victims not based on a preponderance of the evidence 17 standard, which is customary, but a very heightened one, in 18 fact, beyond a reasonable doubt.

19 All right, Mr. Kellhofer, what says the government?

20 MR. KELLHOFER: Your Honor, this entire 21 conspiracy -- and what I'm about to say, to some extent, will 22 roll over to the next few objections that I think you'll be 23 addressing.

24 THE COURT: I'm sure other defense counsel are 25 listening very carefully.

1 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor. And, to some 2 extent, therefore, I think this will apply to the selection of 3 victim the -- the victim as a government employee, and then, 4 additionally, it rolls over into the terrorism enhancements.

5 So, I understand we're going to address each one of 6 those, simply say that I think that this is all sort of 7 wrapped up and rolled in together.

8 The conspiracy here involved an attempt based at 9 pursuing what was a twisted version of Islam. The underlying 10 basis for this entire conspiracy was based off of their 11 understanding, their twisted version of Islam. And that 12 entailed instituting shari'ah law. That entailed conducting 13 violence against any individual who they determined to be 14 non-Muslim, to be kufr, to be munafiq, a hypocrite.

15 They did not say we are going to kill Bob. Rather, 16 they chose a class of individuals. And we believe that the 17 probation report does an extremely adequate job of referencing 18 the fact that that is absolutely appropriate. And, in this 19 case, they chose a very specific class of individuals. And 20 that class of individuals was those individuals who do not 21 meet their definition of what was an appropriate religion.

22 I think particular to this, as well, is -- turning to a 23 specific fact, I suppose -- the -- one of the items that had 24 been introduced at trial was the 44 Ways to Support Jihad, 25 which, as we heard at trial, was premised upon 39 Ways, and

1 that 44 Ways was a work by one Anwar al-Awlaki, a radical.

2 That 39 Ways was a document that was specifically 3 located on defendant Yaghi's computer. In addition, there was 4 vast talk between Omar Hassan and defendant Ziyad Yaghi 5 regarding Anwar al-Awlaki and praising him.

6 And, in fact, Dylan Boyd testified that he was sent a 7 copy of 44 Ways from Omar Hassan, stating that this is 8 something that it is incumbent upon all true believers to 9 read. And, within that document, one of the ways was to have 10 enmity towards the disbelievers and hate them.

11 It is our position that this certainly meets the 12 definition of what is required for a hate crime is specific to

14 THE COURT: Mr. Boyce, do you want to respond?

15 MR. BOYCE: Yes, your Honor. And, again, what's 16 been extremely difficult in this case throughout is trying to 17 hold Omar Hassan accountable for the sins of all. This 18 sentencing relates only to Omar Hassan. It doesn't relate to 19 anything Daniel Boyd or Subasic or Sherifi or any of those 20 guys were talking about when he was present.

21 The one mistake, if you will -- or several mistakes
22 Omar Hassan made was trying to be cute on Facebook in saying 23 things that were inappropriate and provocative, at best. But 24 there is not a single e-mail, there is not a single posting 25 that said we are going to do this. What he did is, in these

1 stupid raps that he -- I think Yaghi did it and Omar had it
2 posted, and he pasted and repeated something that Yaghi said.

3 The statute, itself, said that the government has to 4 prove beyond a reasonable doubt that he intentionally selected 5 any victim or any property as the object of the offense of 6 conviction. Even if he may have made some ethnic slurs by 7 posting Yaghi's earlier rap, he did not have a selected victim 8 that was the object of the conviction. They tried to, in 9 essence, take something he said on Facebook and wrap it in to 10 sucking him into the conspiracy and saying and we know what 11 the conspiracy was all about.

12 So, we object to the three-level increase because of 13 burdens on them to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that there 14 was a specific victim or property that was the object of the 15 offense of conviction.

16 THE COURT: All right. It's perhaps closer than 17 some, but the government has sustained its burden of proof
18 beyond a reasonable doubt. There are these Facebook postings 19 disparaging members of the Jewish faith and non-Muslims, and 20 there is sufficient evidence to support a determination that 21 this defendant was targeting individuals based on ethnicity or 22 religion.

23 Anwar al-Awlaki was quite mesmerizing for Mr. Hassan.
24 The Court doesn't find it credible that he could not 25 understand, in 2007 and 2008, the radicalism of this

1 individual. And the Court recalls testimony that he went to 2 Mr. Boyd's house in, I believe, January of 2007, and this 3 document was expressly discussed. Mr. Boyd understood, and he 4 testified what the purposes of the defendant's trip was, to go 5 and find a battlefield. And he understood the reference to 6 the word "marriage" very differently from its customary 7 meaning. And there was a clear effort to enter into Israel, 8 and there are these Facebook postings with specific rants 9 against members of the Jewish faith.

10 So, I think and find that the government has sustained 11 its burden, and these points were properly added by the 12 probation office.

13 Now, 3A1.2, as counsel said, seems to roll into that.
14 I might not entirely agree on that. I'll hear you on 3A1.2, 15 objecting to the three-level enhancement For targeting 16 official victims.

17 MR. BOYCE: That's right, your Honor. And I
18 agree, it does kind of roll into that, too. There was no 19 designated official, officer or employee. We submitted to the 20 Court a chronology that's available on the Internet about the 21 strife going on between Israel and Palestine during that 22 period of time.

23 There's no suggestion in any of the evidence presented 24 at trial which would support that there were U.S. troops over 25 there or there were some public officials over there when Omar

1 Hassan went to Israel that he targeted as a government 2 officer.

3 Likewise, because he was out of the alleged conspiracy 4 after that summer of 2007 trip, the later sins of the group, 5 the targeting Quantico, I believe it was, and talking about 6 doing this or that in Washington, D.C., had nothing to do with 7 Omar Hassan. We pointed out at trial the Rosstraining.com
8 posting in 2008 where Mr. Hassan said, I do not support 9 terrorism.

10 We do not suggest to the Court that even if you use the 11 2007 trip as participation to find him guilty, by 2008 he had 12 dis -- unjoined or removed himself from this terroristic 13 group.

14 So, for that reason, anything that happens later on in 15 that span of time does not apply to Omar Hassan. He's 16 withdrawn from the conspiracy. And, therefore, the three-17 level enhancement for that activity couldn't be held against 18 him.

19 THE COURT: What says the government? Do you want 20 to be heard?

21 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor. We do believe 22 that the underlying conspiracy rolls into this, as well, 23 because during the testimony of Daniel Boyd he simply stated 24 that during conversation with Omar Hassan, with Ziyad Yaghi, 25 regarding what he referred to as corrupt jihad, that everyone

1 there understood that to include fighting, and fighting
2 against NATO forces. It is our position that the NATO forces
3 certainly includes American troops. It's well understood.
4 This is a conspiracy case, as well.

5 So, to say that it is -- it is absolutely appropriate 6 to refer to what was going on with the other individuals in 7 terms of this entire conspiracy.

8 And it is our position that Omar Hassan's involvement 9 at that time, particularly to that conversation which Daniel 10 Boyd was referring to, included, as he said, NATO forces. And 11 that's what this underlying conspiracy was intended to target 12 and fight against.

13 THE COURT: Remind the Court, when was that 14 conversation?

15 MR. KELLHOFER: My understanding is the 16 conversation took place when Ziyad Yaghi had brought Omar 17 Hassan to meet Daniel Boyd in, I believe, early 2007.

18 THE COURT: So, that's the meeting at the house
19 where I made mention of the Court recalls the testimony 20 concerning discussion of Anwar al-Awlaki's treatise. But 21 you're saying there was a discussion about NATO forces being 22 subject to attack overseas?

23 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor, that Daniel Boyd 24 specifically included that when he was defining what corrupt 25 jihad meant and what that meant to the individuals present.

1 That included -- it meant fighting, and it meant fighting to 2 include NATO forces.

3 MR. BOYCE: With all due respect to Mr. Kellhofer, 4 I don't remember hearing it quite that way. And if there were 5 any reference at all to NATO in the year 2007, it might have 6 been some general discussion about NATO. But I don't remember 7 anything where Mr. Daniel Boyd testified that they were going 8 to gear up and go overseas in the summer of 2007 to kill NATO 9 forces. I don't believe the record's going to support that.
10 The burden is on the government, I think, to prove this kind 11 of increase. I would submit they have not met their burden.

12 THE COURT: I suppose we're all hampered by the 13 lack of a certified transcript being produced yet. One would 14 not timely be due. But we are reflecting on our recollection 15 of several months ago, and I don't recall a specific reference 16 in this context to fighting NATO forces.

17 I think something more is required for this 18 enhancement, and I'm inclined to sustain the defendant's 19 objection and not add the three points for targeting an 20 official victim.

21 This enhancement seeks something more, something very 22 particular, and I don't believe the government has shown that 23 by a preponderance of the evidence. And so, with respect to 24 this objection, I'm sustaining it.

25 It's not going to have an effect on the guidelines, per 1 se, but it should be noted in the record.

2 Now, the closest thing, I think, really that comes to 3 it is the Ross Training video and the Support Our Troops logo.
4 And that's just not enough, I think, to merit these three 5 points.

6 Now, moving on to the next objection, I'd like to talk 7 about the objection to not knowing Bajram Asllani, and I don't 8 think that voids the reference in the report. But I don't 9 think there's been any specific tie-in of your client to this 10 individual, who's the subject of a separate but related 11 prosecution and remains in Kosovo, I believe.

12 MR. BOYCE: Understood. And we don't need to be 13 heard further.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Now, there are a lot of other 15 objections. The statement of the defendant focused on 16 engaging in violent jihad outside the U.S. being refuted based 17 on the acquittal of Count 2. I don't find that the jury's 18 decision on Count 2 has the force and effect that Mr. Hassan 19 does, and so, therefore, would overrule that.

20 There is no evidence that his contact with Yaghi in 21 2006 had anything to do with Yaghi's efforts to join the 22 mujahidin. I think you're back to arguing the inferences. I 23 think the record does support the defendant stating contact 24 with Mr. Yaghi, as perhaps others did as well during that 25 period.

1 The defendant -- there's no evidence that the defendant
2 joined Mr. Yaghi in 2006, in Jordan or elsewhere.

3 The public records reflect a conviction of an assault
4 on a female while the defendant says he didn't hit 5 Ms. Zaghloul, and she would affirm that she was not hit by the 6 defendant. That criminal history is what it is, and there was 7 a conviction. And I note the defendant did, in fact, attend 8 some anger management courses, or something similar, which he 9 successfully completed afterwards.

10 Pleading guilty to misdemeanor false imprisonment, he 11 submits he didn't kidnap and restrain the individual. Well, 12 again, the record is what it is.

13 What else, Mr. Boyce, is necessary to be considered 14 before we turn our attention to that significant objection to 15 3A1.4 for terrorism?

16 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, I think that covers all 17 the factual objections.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 Well, I'd like to hear from the government on this. I 20 think the defendant has laid it out. You have filed in your 21 motion requesting the Court to strike the response of the 22 defendant. You have some presentation here about this. But 23 I'd like to hear further from the government.

24 MR. KELLHOFER: With regard to the terrorism
25 enhancement, we would first state that the arguments made

1 within the PSR, the statements made by the probation officer, 2 we adhere to those. We believe those to be accurate.

3 In addition to the filing that we supplied, we still 4 stand by that. And in addition to those, in fleshing those 5 out, your Honor, we're setting the context here.

6 The terrorism enhancement under 3A1.4 does require a 7 federal crime of terrorism. And the defense has appropriately 8 pointed out that it is a two-part test, essentially. That 9 simply being convicted under what's known as a terrorism 10 crime, such as 2339A, is not necessarily a federal crime of 11 terrorism and that it does require the additional specific 12 intent element with regard to an intent to coerce
13 government --

14 THE COURT: It can be confusing, and I think the 15 Chandia decisions are not a model of clarity. But there 16 clearly needs to be something more here. And I think we're 17 all of agreement.

18 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, absolutely. And it is our 19 position that the one thing that Chandia does -- is clear on 20 is that the courts need to try and be clear on this.

21 And so, here I do think it important that the Court 22 have sufficient bases to find that specific intent and 23 specifically note that it's making its decision, should it 24 determine the terrorism enhancement to be appropriate, on 25 the -- what the basis for it's determination is.

1 Here, again we have a conspiracy who, with -- without 2 regard to any other alleged discrepancies between testimony.
3 What is certain here is what was defined by anyone who 4 testified as to the corrupted ideology that was the basis for 5 the conspiracy. And that corrupted ideology revolved around a 6 belief that violence was obligatory on all Muslims, and that 7 this violence was for a purpose, and that purpose was to 8 institute shari'ah law, because it is appropriate to rid the 9 world of all non-Muslims, or kufr. That came from every 10 individual who testified on that subject. And it was clear.

11 The evidence of Omar Hassan's intent, evidence of Omar 12 Hassan's mindset, all showed beyond a reasonable doubt that 13 that was his belief, as well. Individuals testified --

14 THE COURT: What's the standard?

15 MR. KELLHOFER: It is our position that the 16 standard is by a preponderance, your Honor. We understand 17 that that has not been done definitively determined in the 18 Fourth Circuit or within the circuits generally, and that 19 there is some dispute. It would be our position that the 20 appropriate standard is a preponderance.

21 THE COURT: I'm going with clear and convincing.

22 MR. KELLHOFER: It is our position that regardless 23 of which standard you are utilizing, whether it be clear and 24 convincing or preponderance, that it's met.

25 THE COURT: And that's how you started.

1 MR. KELLHOFER: That being the case, the evidence 2 that was displayed throughout this trial showed an intent to 3 move this conspiracy forward with an underlying basis, that 4 underlying basis being a 956 crime, a crime of murdering 5 individuals overseas. And, again, the entire purpose here was 6 to institute a religion; a religion that would rule both in 7 one's personal as well as public.

8 The point is you cannot have both systems at the same 9 time. If you're going to have this conspiracy, and your point 10 is to implement this belief, this law, then it requires 11 ridding what law exists. It is intended -- it's utter purpose 12 is to attack government.

13 Here one of the interesting posts by Omar Hassan was a 14 video, a message from the mujahidin to the Americans, highly 15 indicative of his mindset, highly indicative of the charge 16 that was, in fact, supported and of which he was found guilty.
17 And within that video it was -- it was -- it was standard war 18 propaganda. And it's entire attempt, from viewing it, was 19 simply to put fear in the hearts of Americans.

20 And it was blatantly stating that the IEDs, the 21 improvised explosive devices utilized overseas in areas such 22 as Iraq, such as Afghanistan, were justified. That is a very 23 clear example of Omar Hassan's specific intent in being a part 24 of this conspiracy.

25 It's stated in the title of the video he posted: "A

1 Message from the Mujahidin to the Americans."

2 When he was interviewed by Agent Paul Minella, as we 3 heard testimony, on his arrest, he gave his view of those -- 4 of the conflict in Iraq. His view was that those Iraqis 5 fighting Americans were simply freedom-fighters.

6 And while I understand the defense's turning to 7 Mr. Hassan's response on that Ross Training video of 8 supporting the troops, that he didn't support terrorism from 9 this, of his definition of terrorism. He considered those 10 mujahidin to be fighting Americans to be freedom fighters.

11 Overall, this evidence displays a specific intent by 12 this individual that meets the element required for a federal 13 crime of terrorism. His actions are in response to government 14 conduct. His actions are intended to influence government 15 conduct.

16 I think there are a variety of other matters that 17 additionally display that, such as his statements, his 18 viewpoints that were displayed throughout the Facebook 19 regarding Jews. Again, it goes to a belief system that is 20 intent on overcoming, not only for a religious purposes but 21 for a religious purpose that entails ruling in the public 22 realm.

23 Based on that, it is our position that regardless of 24 which standard your Honor utilizes, certainly this individual 25 had the specific intent necessary for a terrorism enhancement.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. BOYCE: May I?

3 THE COURT: Yes.

4 MR. BOYCE: A couple of things, your Honor.

5 Number one, it's tough, as a trial lawyer, to decide whether 6 to call your client as a witness. And, as I know the Court is 7 aware, one of the decisions that a defendant makes is whether 8 to testify. We struggled with this decision mightily about 9 whether Omar Hassan should testify. And at the time we made 10 the strategy call that the government's case was so weak 11 against Omar Hassan that we decided not to call him as a 12 witness. That was our recommendation. He accepted that 13 recommendation, and we did not present evidence.

14 What we have now before the Court the jury didn't have,
15 and that is the notebook that we have submitted to the Court 16 as part of this sentencing process.

17 Another thing -- I believe this was in front of the 18 magistrate judge at the detention hearing. Before the Court 19 became involved, we had the detention hearing with all the 20 defendants, and then we appealed the detention hearing and we 21 provided the transcript to the Court.

22 One of the things that Omar Hassan said two-and-a-half 23 years ago -- I think it's in the transcript -- he authorized 24 me to represent to the Court he condemns terrorism. He does 25 not support terrorism, and that is not part of his religious

1 belief. The jury didn't have the benefit of this notebook and 2 Omar Hassan's testimony under oath.

3 Omar Hassan has now, under oath, submitted that 4 affidavit, which he contends, under the penalty of perjury, is 5 true and accurate. That's new evidence, and we would suggest 6 to the Court it shows the government did not meet it's burden 7 of proving the terrorism enhancement under the Chandia case.

8 Not only does the Court now have Omar Hassan's 9 affidavit, but it also has a number of other documents that 10 the jury didn't see, one being Facebook -- the entire postings 11 of Facebook, not just that little part.

12 So, as you could see -- and I think some of this came 13 out -- for instance, Omar Hassan had something like 200 14 friends. They friend him on Facebook. And he had lots of 15 non-Muslim friends that were looking on his web site.

16 I would suggest to the Court, when you take it as a 17 whole and when you consider some -- not only his affidavit, 18 but these postings on Rosstraining.com, where Mr. Hassan 19 says: "A lot of people are asking me about the Support Our 20 Troops video, with the Arabic on the screen. There is no God 21 but Allah, and Mohammed is his messenger. I am Muslim, and 22 that is what Islam is based upon. The troops I support are 23 ones who fight for truth. Whether it's Arab, American, 24 Spanish, European, whatever, it doesn't matter, as long as he 25 fights for the truth. P.S., I do not support terrorists."

1 Later in the -- in a later posting he says, -- no,
2 excuse me, an earlier posting, he had said: "Thanks for all
3 the advice, man, and that was probably the best I got so far.
4 I will definitely work on my forms. And thanks for 5 understanding about my views. I don't support terrorists in 6 the Arabic is the main point of it which means there is no God
7 but Allah and Mohammed is his messenger."

8 The third reference in the postings is: "Sorry if I 9 caused controversy. Islam is a religion of peace, but when 10 attacked will fight back strong. I will edit the video, but 11 will probably keep my religious belief in it because part of 12 my religious faith is to come in strong and healthy shape."

13 Again, your Honor, I would say to take a 12-point 14 enhancement the Court should consider a higher burden than the 15 preponderance of the evidence. And, again, I think the Court 16 has more information before it than the jury did on the -- to 17 consider whether to apply the terrorism enhancement.

18 And when we first found the Chandia case and we read it 19 over and over, it became abundantly clear to us that the 20 Fourth Circuit got it right. You've got to have the something 21 more. And in this particular case -- I'm not defending Daniel 22 Boyd, Zak Boyd, Dylan Boyd, Sherifi, Subasic, or even Ziyad 23 Yaghi. I'm defending Omar Hassan. And with respect to this 24 particular defendant, the government cannot meet its burden.

25 So, we would ask the Court to sustain the objection and 1 not apply that enhancement.

2 THE COURT: All right.

3 MR. BOYCE: Again, relying heavily on Chandia.

4 THE COURT: Which does, as I understand, those 5 cases stand for the proposition the Court has to be very 6 particular in its findings, very specific, and there must be 7 something more that warrants it. There has to be a particular 8 determination as to motive and intent, that is, that the 9 conduct is calculated to influence or affect the conduct of 10 the government by intimidation or coercion or to retaliate
11 against government conduct.

12 You've made mention to an affidavit. I'm sure you will 13 argue these are genuine issues of material fact and it's not 14 been subject to cross-examination, but it reads, as I 15 understand Mr. Boyce has summarized it. I've read it myself, 16 as well.

17 What more do you want to be heard?

18 MR. KELLHOFER: No, I think your Honor's hit it on 19 the head. It is not new evidence. Rather, it is untested 20 evidence, would be our view. It was not subject to cross-21 examination. And, in our opinion, the affidavit, itself, 22 displays nothing more -- at least, the one from Mr. Hassan -- 23 nothing more than concrete evidence of an unrepentant 24 individual.

25 And, in fact, as your Honor just noted briefly a few

1 moments ago, it's almost absurd -- that would be my 2 paraphrase, your Honor -- to believe that Mr. Hassan did not 3 understand the viewpoints of Mr. Anwar al-Awlaki in which he 4 states surprise to find out he was radical in nature. And I 5 think that's direct evidence to show that the very affidavit
6 that Mr. Boyce is turning to is unreliable.

7 It is our position that the evidence displayed 8 throughout the trial and as highlighted here more than 9 adequately meets the burden here.

10 The one thing I will note with regard to the legal 11 aspect of it, your Honor, is that Chandia is not an example of 12 factual underpinnings either meeting or not meeting the 13 elements. Rather, Chandia is --

14 THE COURT: It's procedural. The judge didn't do 15 it right.

16 MR. KELLHOFER: It just didn't happen. Yes, your 17 Honor, that's it exactly. And it was sent back to the Court 18 to get it right, to say, hey, you can't just, per se, apply 19 it. You have to have some basis. That's the value of 20 Chandia, trying to turn to the factual elements we believe to 21 be of no value.

22 The point is the Court does have a duty and should 23 appropriately find those specific factors that support the 24 terrorism enhancement, and they should be noted.

25 THE COURT: Well, this is the only defendant, of 1 all the defendants before the Court, who actually communicated

2 with an individual named Anwar. The importance of Anwar 3 al-Awlaki is particular to Mr. Hassan, who sought solace in 4 his words at a point in time when he was facing prosecution.

5 I cannot believe that he was not aware of the 6 tendencies of that individual and the fact that that was a 7 particular point of conversation on his first meeting with 8 Daniel Boyd, whose home was filled with weapons and 9 propaganda, you know, underscores, you know, this 10 determination.

11 I discount the objection to the extent that it's 12 premised on the not guilty verdict as to Count 2. Not to 13 minimize that. It has great significance in this case. But 14 as far as the application of this enhancement, it does not 15 necessarily have a significance.

16 There is a relationship with Mr. Yaghi that's not as 17 talked about as the relationship with Mr. Boyd that has 18 tangentially Mr. Hassan still connected with Mr. Boyd, where 19 it's Mr. Yaghi who gifts Jude Mohammad, according to the 20 testimony of Daniel Boyd, almost as an offering to someone 21 who's taken great pride in launching young men overseas to 22 engage in jihad. You have an intimate association with an 23 individual, Mr. Yaghi, who actually moves himself in to 24 Mr. Mohammed's apartment when Mr. Mohammed suddenly leaves the 25 country to great celebration as a mujahidin.

1 There is no doubt that Mr. Hassan had innocent motives
2 in going to Jordan in 2007. But similarly, the Court's 3 compelled to conclude, there were motives as well as trying to 4 find a way to the battlefield and seeking out people who could 5 be of assistance.

6 So, I think the enhancement is properly made in this 7 case, also with reflection on, in addition to that 8 relationship that's built on a corrupt ideology that hijacks a 9 religion that millions and millions of people practice, that 10 is one that brings great peace and understanding, it's 11 decrying that in some twisted way to fill a void.

12 And the common ground as between all these defendants 13 is the familial void. Each one of these defendants has had 14 some kind of a falling out with his father and has had a 15 family in great turmoil and great tension.

16 Also with respect to Mr. Hassan, there is the Ross 17 Training video with the graphics, and a caption alluding to 18 Support Our Troops. There is this attempt to distance 19 himself, as he was subject to online criticism. But that 20 doesn't necessarily compel the Court to conclude that he 21 didn't mean what he said when he posted it.

22 The defendant maintained that contact with Mr. Yaghi in 23 2006 when Mr. Yaghi was beginning to find the way, he thought, 24 to the battlefield.

25 This defendant was trying to offer himself as a

1 fighter, and the Court is compelled to conclude he had the 2 motive and the intent to influence or affect the conduct of 3 the government by intimidation or coercion or retaliate 4 against government conduct, the support of extremism, the 5 support of terrorism, and the attempting to be a part of it on 6 the battlefield, and supporting those who would.

7 So, regrettably, I'm compelled to conclude, Mr. Boyce, 8 that the 12 points are properly assessed and that your client
9 stands, moving from a criminal history category of III to a 10 VI.

11 Have I heard all the objections, because I believe I've 12 determined now the advice of the guidelines -- or is there 13 anything else?

14 MR. BOYCE: We have not gone over role in the 15 offense.

16 THE COURT: All right. Well, I don't want to 17 preclude that. And, certainly, I've reflected on it in making 18 a determination about the terrorist enhancement. But now 19 moving separate and apart from that, I am not agreeing with 20 you that he's entitled to reduction, but I do consider this 21 when reflecting on the totality of your client's involvement 22 and the influence of Mr. Yaghi on him.

23 MR. BOYCE: And, your Honor, there is one more.
24 This came in after we had gotten the presentence report.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. BOYCE: The obstruction of justice
2 enhancement, we would submit to the Court -- and I believe 3 this is in the affidavits of Sonya Zaghoul as well as of 4 Mr. Hassan. Omar was in jail on another charge that was 5 entirely unrelated to this charge. As he sets forth in his 6 affidavit the reason for doing that, he said, I thought people 7 were going to think bad about me and it was the right thing to 8 do. So, that's why he told Sonya to do it. The reason why he 9 was upset and energetic in his voice is because apparently 10 those phone systems cut off. So, he was saying, Sonya, take 11 it down.

12 I argued to the jury, and I would argue here again, 13 that was the right thing to do. He was -- he realized, 14 entirely unrelated to this, but it related to the state 15 charge -- that he had done something wrong. He didn't need 16 anybody to be thinking anything -- that he might support 17 "Muslim Gangsta for Life."

18 In his affidavit he says, we were kidding around. It 19 was just a big joke. So, him taking down the posting of the 20 stupid rap, the "Muslim Gansta for Life," is something like 21 some 14-year-old kid -- as he explained in his affidavit, is 22 like some 14-year-old kid had done. It was entirely unrelated 23 to this case.

24 Please keep in mind this was in 2011 when all this was 25 going on. His trip was in 2007. Four years had passed --

1 THE COURT: 2011?

2 MR. BOYCE: I'm sorry, 2009.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. BOYCE: 2007 was the trip, 2009 was the 5 arrest -- sorry -- in January, and later in the year he was 6 arrested on these charges. But the Court heard some 7 information.

8 They attempted to get Omar to cooperate before -- right
9 after the trip, and he basically told them, I don't know 10 anything, how can I help you? I don't know anything. That 11 kind of ended it for Omar Hassan.

12 So, I would suggest to the Court there's in link with 13 that call to Sonya Zaghloul and telling her to take down the 14 "Muslim Gangsta of Life" and obstruction of justice in this 15 case.

16 THE COURT: Great care was taken in the 17 presentation to the jury to not alert the jury of the 18 custodial status of your client.

19 I'm recalling that's the same phone conversation where 20 she confirms a communication with Anwar. Is that correct?

21 MR. BOYCE: I think that's a different
22 conversation.

23 THE COURT: That was a second taped call.

24 MR. BOYCE: I think so. And all that was -- 25 where -- and, again, he's asking Awlaki to pray for him,

1 because he thought he was being unfairly prosecuted.

2 But that, again -- was that the second or the first?
3 May I have one minute, your Honor, and get my facts straight.

4 THE COURT: All right.

5 (Pause.)

6 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, I'm being corrected here.
7 I think the Anwar al-Awlaki comment was a separate phone call,
8 and it was after the first state charge and not these charges.

9 THE COURT: Right. Okay.

10 All right. Does the government want to respond to 11 that?

12 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor. We acknowledge 13 that this is, in our view, a closer call.

14 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

15 MR. BOYCE: At least from our view as to the 16 others. Nonetheless, we continue to believe that obstruction 17 of justice enhancement is appropriate here.

18 What I'm hearing is that's evidence that may be looked 19 at, and so, I decided to get rid of it.

20 Again, without that even being tested, the point is he 21 was getting rid of evidence.

22 In this instance, based on the timing, we think it is 23 absolutely appropriate that it apply to this particular 24 charge, this particular case.

25 If you recall, at the same time Daniel Boyd went to 1 Yaghi -- or I mean Yaghi -- Hassan was in jail, as well, 2 Daniel Boyd met with him. And the whole point there was based 3 on this stuff, you know, I'm not going to snitch was Yaghi's 4 statement. And all of this evidence that exists, not knowing 5 exactly what it is, relates to this individual, his proclivity 6 towards violence, apparently, and he knew that it would be 7 harmful to him, and was, in fact, getting rid of it.

8 He was aware that he had reason -- he had reason to be 9 aware that he was being looked at, certainly. He had been 10 questioned on his return from his trip. He had been 11 questioned by Agent Minella. He had been questioned 12 specifically about Daniel Boyd. And, as you heard previously 13 during the trial, that there was quite a hoopla in the 14 community about in entire trip.

15 THE COURT: Remind me of when he got back from 16 Jordan. Was it in July of 2007?

17 MR. KELLHOFER: It was staggered between him and 18 Yaghi. I believe it was July or August. I'm not sure of 19 that, but yes, it would have been July or August.

20 THE COURT: And they came to the store together 21 after that. And then it's the next summer that Yaghi returns 22 with Jude Mohammad and introduces him?

23 MR. KELLHOFER: Correct. Yes, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: And then, from the testimony of Daniel 25 Boyd, he was obviously quite awed by the self-possession of 1 Jude Mohammad, unlike Mr. Hassan and Mr. Yaghi, who, the 2 testimony would show, he felt talked too much and could not be 3 trusted.

4 But there is this continuing link between them
5 fulfilled by Yaghi, who is obviously still connected with Jude 6 Mohammad at the point in time when he's house-sitting for the 7 Boyds. They come home from the beach, correct, according to 8 the testimony, and find the young man circled with weapons and 9 propaganda materials, who is convinced now he's going to go
10 overseas. This is just a few weeks after that career employee 11 at the community college approached him in the library and 12 said, "I can't wait for you to come back to school," or 13 "Aren't you coming back to school?"

14 And Mr. Mohammed looked at her and said I'm going to 15 die in the Pakistan mountains?

16 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor, that's correct.

17 THE COURT: And so, Mr. Yaghi is obviously 18 connected, because he's moved into Mr. Mohammed's apartment 19 right after he leaves the country in October.

20 And his mother comes over one night and wants to talk 21 about Daniel Boyd, and Mr. Yaghi won't, according to the 22 testimony. And she asks him, "Where is my son?"

23 And the answer is, "Your son is where I was a year 24 ago."

25 And so, all of this is going on, you say, and the FBI

1 is investigating this, and they're trying to talk to 2 Mr. Hassan. And don't they try to talk to his father, as 3 well?

4 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor, I believe so.

5 THE COURT: And both of these young men get 6 involved in this altercation, and it's a terrible mistake, 7 with kidnapping and robbery, and they both end up in jail?

8 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes.

9 THE COURT: And so, while they may not be talking 10 to each other, you've got Mr. Yaghi somewhere and Mr. Boyd 11 comes to visit him then and says, don't snitch. Is that the 12 gist of it?

13 MR. KELLHOFER: That's the gist, yes, your Honor.

14 THE COURT: And you've got Mr. Hassan making phone 15 calls to Ms. Zaghloul saying destroy this evidence.

16 MR. KELLHOFER: Correct.

17 THE COURT: And Ms. Zaghloul knows the FBI is 18 involved with Mr. Hassan, because, in fact, the agent called 19 her by name and she got upset, according to her affidavit, 20 when he had stopped Mr. Hassan. She thought it was her 21 father's work, because he was against the marriage and was 22 following them; is that correct?

23 MR. KELLHOFER: That is.

24 THE COURT: But that person was identified to 25 Mr. Hassan -- was identified as Mr. Hassan by Mr. Minella; is 1 that correct?

2 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes.

3 THE COURT: Okay. So, all of this, Mr. Boyce, is 4 obviously going on at a point in time when your client wanted
5 some very damaging evidence destroyed. And so, I'm compelled, 6 and I know it's over your objection, to find that that 7 enhancement is properly scored --

8 MR. BOYCE: Okay.

9 THE COURT: -- as obstructing justice.

10 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, just for the record, 11 taking something down off the Internet is not destroying the 12 evidence. He just told her to take it off and shut it down.

13 As we have learned through the process of learning 14 about Facebook, Facebook apparently lives on forever. Things 15 like that live on forever. And again, a lot of the 16 information the Court has just repeated relates to activity in 17 2007. After 2007, all the recitation of facts that the Court 18 just gave relates to Ziyad Yaghi, not to Mr. Hassan.

19 THE COURT: Well, in 2007 they're friends. In 20 2008 they're friends. In 2007 they get back from the trip, 21 they go to the Blackstone Market.

22 MR. BOYCE: Right. And Mr. Boyd said it was a 23 benign conversation, words to that effect, Mr. Hassan was 24 stand-offish, and they had no conversation.

25 THE COURT: There's some visibility, though.

1 There's a coming back together. But, obviously, with the 2 consternation of the community, the feelings that Mr. Boyd had 3 that he was being talked about and his efforts were being 4 undermined by this, he did not engage either of these two 5 individuals.

6 But Mr. Yaghi came back, correct, June of 2008, with 7 Mr. Mohammed. Do I have the time frame wrong? I mean, I'd 8 like to be corrected if I do. But I understand that was the 9 next summer.

10 MR. KELLHOFER: It is our position that that is 11 correct. It may have been March, rather than June, but right 12 around that summer of '08.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. BOYCE: But again, your Honor, that's 15 Mr. Yaghi. Mr. Hassan -- there is no direct link between this 16 Jude Mohammed fellow and Ziyad Yaghi's relationship with him 17 and Omar Hassan. And, again, the trip to the Blackstone, 18 there is no direct link that he went to the Blackstone for any 19 purpose other than to look at the grocery store.

20 His affidavit, which, again, the jury didn't have the 21 benefit of, Omar Hassan's affidavit said I just went with my 22 friend over there. I didn't have any discussion with him.
23 And then I left.

24 So, I'll sit down now. That's basically all I wanted 25 to say.

1 THE COURT: Okay. What else is there to decide 2 that bears on the advice of the guidelines?

3 I believe it is a total offense level of a 43, but I do 4 believe, too, that the adjustment downwards is not as great as 5 the probation officer proclaimed. I believe the adjusted
6 offense level is a 50. I think that was a three-point 7 enhancement that I sustained, wasn't it?

8 PROBATION OFFICER WASCO: That is correct, your 9 Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. So, but it still would be 11 guided by a 43 and capped at the statutory maximum.

12 So, unless there's something else, Mr. Boyce, I 13 think -- I have decided what the advice is of the guidelines.

14 MR. BOYCE: Okay.

15 PROBATION OFFICER WASCO: Your Honor, may I 16 approach?

17 (Court conferring with Probation Officer Wasco off the 18 record.)

19 THE COURT: You believe the base offense level 20 should be a 26. Do you still believe that?

21 MR. BOYCE: Yes, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Do you want to be heard on 23 that, Mr. Kellhofer?

24 MR. KELLHOFER: We agree with the probation
25 officer's response. We have nothing further to add.

1 THE COURT: I think it's a little confusing,
2 automatically assuming that the cross-reference at 2M5.3, 3 subsection (c)(2) applies. But ultimately I'm of agreement
4 and conclude that 2X1.1 is the right guideline. And I
5 discount 2N5.3. So, I don't agree that the base offense level 6 is a 26.

7 But your objection is noted on the record and certainly 8 preserved, as I'll explain shortly the defendant's waived no 9 appeal rights and has all his rights to appeal both the 10 conviction and the sentence.

11 The Court has to determine a sentence that's 12 sufficient, but not greater than necessary, and I'm free to 13 disregard the advice of the guidelines, as I've just concluded 14 what they are.

15 I went through the factors, as you know them well, in 16 18 United States Code, Section 3553, and I reflect on the need 17 to protect the public, to discourage this type of conduct, to 18 promote respect for the law.

19 And I think about your client's history and 20 characteristics, and I come back to his criminal history that 21 began at the age of 16, and how unsettling that must have been 22 within the family; the drug usage that he has been involved
23 in; and I recognize the tension with respect to this marriage 24 to Ms. Zaghloul, which appears entirely opposed by at least 25 one side of the equation; and how difficult that was that he

1 was trying to find himself.

2 And I -- I recognize that people in the community saw 3 what was going on, and that there was at least some effort to 4 pull him away.

5 And I'm we'll aware of his young age. I'm also well 6 aware that he's the only defendant who truly reached out and 7 touched Mr. Al-Awlaki, and that takes some initiative.

8 But I'd like to know what you think I need to know to 9 fashion a sentence that's sufficient, but not greater than 10 necessary.

11 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor. We have filed 12 a sentencing memorandum. We've already touched on a lot of 13 the points the Court has already raised. So, I'm not going to 14 belabor the points we make here.

15 It is abundantly clear also the type of person that 16 Omar Hassan is viewed in the community. There were over -- I 17 think they were right at 100 character letters that we 18 submitted to the Court that were coming to our office. We 19 finally had to stop them on Friday and say this is enough, 20 we're fine here.

21 But some of the words that are used to describe Omar 22 Hassan in these 100 letters are pleasant, very social, big 23 smile, kind, loves his family, loves the outdoors, respected 24 his faith, biggest heart ever, amazing work ethic, possesses a 25 lot of love, gentle man, very active in the community,

1 volunteering in the community, moral principles and values, 2 charitable person, helpful, loving heart in everything he 3 did. That's just a few of the comments in the letters that 4 sum up the life of Omar Hassan.

5 He also, in his affidavit, your Honor, that I ask the 6 Court to take into consideration, his acknowledgement. He was 7 a young, stupid kid saying some dumb things. And in a minute 8 he will get up and again repudiate terrorism.

9 He has no desire to go back to a life that he was 10 living as a kid. He was trying to move forward. And, as 11 Dr. Kimball, the phrase Dr. Kimball first brought him to our 12 attention -- he's the expert -- you've got his affidavit.

13 THE COURT: Yes.

14 MR. BOYCE: -- was a lot of kids come to college 15 seeking their moral compass. They're trying to find a 16 direction in life. And they struggle with a conservative 17 religion like Islam versus the westernized society that Omar 18 was living in and trying to smoke weed, testing it out with 19 his buddies, and things like that. He was conflicted.

20 And before I forget, I would ask to make the 21 recommendation for the drug program, because I think he 22 could --

23 THE COURT: I intend to recommend him for the most 24 intensive program available.

25 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

1 He thinks that one day, unlike some of the other
2 defendants, he's going to have a life. And one of the goals 3 that he's talked about, he's going out there and telling the 4 kids, don't make the same mistakes on Facebook that I made.
5 Don't say the stupid things in e-mails or even post these 6 things because of the trouble it can get you in.

7 He will tell you he had no idea that what he did would 8 cause the kind of harm that it's caused for him.

9 We respectfully disagree with the jury's verdict -- and 10 I'm not going to belabor all of that. But the Court, I 11 believe, can take into consideration other sentences around 12 the country in these kinds of cases. And so that's what I 13 want to focus on now. Because, as I pointed out, the whole 14 purpose of the sentencing guidelines was to remove the 15 disparity in sentences and try to give courts -- try to make 16 courts across the United States sentence defendants in an 17 equal fashion.

18 And so, we've found some cases with what we believe is 19 conduct akin to that of Omar Hassan, where the charges are 20 very heinous, where the conspirators -- the heads of the 21 conspirators may actually be bad people. But other courts 22 have fashioned appropriate sentences well below even the 23 statutory maximum of 15 years.

24 We've mentioned Zak and Dylan Boyd in our pleading to 25 the Court, and I believe the -- there is a downward departure

1 and a downward variance issue in this, so I'm going to argue 2 both at the same time. The Court can go downward from --

3 THE COURT: What's the guideline that you're 4 resting the downward departure on?

5 MR. BOYCE: I'm sorry?

6 THE COURT: What's the guideline that you're 7 resting the downward departure on? What number? Do you have 8 a number? Is this really under 3553?

9 MR. BOYCE: It's mainly under 3553.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BOYCE: I'd just point out to the Court that 12 the downward departure can be considered under -- I don't have 13 the number in front of me. It's in my memo.

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. BOYCE: -- but there's also the variance 16 issue. So, here are the three cases that we're talking 17 about. The first one -- and I'll hand up some documents to 18 the Court when I'm through, your Honor, and I've got copies 19 for the government.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. BOYCE: This first case, and I've got it 22 labeled as D1 -- this is U.S. v. Burson Augustin. These 23 details came from the government's sentencing memorandum, and 24 we've got the docket entries and the judgments of where they 25 can be found. Here's the conduct of the conspiracy in that

1 case. Would you want me to go ahead and hand this up --

2 THE COURT: Why don't you summarize it, and I'd 3 welcome you to --

4 MR. BOYCE: Okay. The conduct of the conspiracy 5 in this case was recording of the defendants -- it's plural -- 6 taking an oath of loyalty to Al-Qaida, photographs and video 7 footage taken by defendants of the FBI building and federal 8 buildings in North Miami, a list of materials needed, such as 9 weapons, vehicles and cash.

10 Codefendants formed and trained as an army of soldiers 11 to wage war military style in cult-like organization.
12 Ringleader of the group sought the assistance of a foreign 13 terrorist organization, a man convicted of terrorism in the 14 1980s.

15 Ringleader met with person he believed to be a 16 representative of Al-Qaida and told the guy his mission was to 17 build his own army for "full ground war, just as good or 18 greater than 9/11." Witnessed a fictitious plan to conduct 19 coordinated attacks against FBI buildings in five cities, 20 including the FBI building in North Miami Beach.

21 Now, that's the conduct of the conspiracy that was 22 prosecuted. And then you go through the particular conduct 23 specific to this defendant, Burson Augustin.

24 He met with the informant and discussed the defendants' 25 plan to engage in coordinated attacks in different areas

1 around Miami with an ultimate goal of not just taking over 2 Miami, taking over Allah's world with his help; to participate 3 in taking the informants against their will to meet with the 4 ringleader; to determine if the informant was working for the 5 government. He provided pictures they took of the federal 6 building to the informant and discussed the Al-Qaida plan. He 7 told the informant to hide their secret mission from the 8 authorities. And he was present and stood guard for the 9 ringleader during several meetings with the informant.

10 He proceeded to trial. He was convicted under 2339B 11 and 2339A. He was acquitted on the conspiracy to destroy by 12 means of explosives property used in interstate and foreign 13 commerce.

14 And in that case, again, the government would -- his 15 guideline sentence was 360 months' imprisonment, with a 16 statutory maximum at 30 years' imprisonment, and the PSR did 17 contain the terrorism enhancement.

18 However, the judgment was 72 months as to Counts 1 and 19 2, and they were to run concurrently.

20 We've got -- may I hand that to the Court?

21 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

22 MR. BOYCE: And I'm handing to the government 23 Defense Exhibit 1, as well as the government's sentencing 24 memorandum.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. BOYCE: We have summarized the case on the 2 first page, just to make it easier, and then supported it with 3 the various pleadings.

4 THE COURT: Okay. This is a Southern District of 5 Florida case you cited as 10620373?

6 MR. BOYCE: Correct, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Is that --

8 MR. BOYCE: I think that's the overall case.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. BOYCE: We also looked at some other -- there 11 are three other cases, and I'm not going to read them, but 12 we've done the same thing with this case. We've summarized 13 the three different defendants in that case and the sentences 14 they received. And, essentially, there is a U.S. v. al-Furqan
15 el-Haqq that we have labeled as Exhibit E, and in that case 16 the defendant was convicted of -- pled guilty to one count of 17 conspiracy to provide material support for a foreign terrorist 18 organization. His guideline range there was 57 do 71 months, 19 and he got 50 months' imprisonment. That is Exhibit E.

20 And then exhibit -- okay, all three codefendants are in 21 that case. There is another codefendant in that case that got 22 40 months. And then there is a third defendant in that case 23 who got 36 months.

24 May I approach again with those?

25 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

1 MR. BOYCE: My point is this, your Honor. We all 2 thought that the sentencing guidelines remained in force for 3 years and years, and then Booker changed all that and changed 4 it so that the Court could do the appropriate thing.

5 This has been a highly, highly unusual case, and I 6 believe the Court has recognized that by the sentencing the 7 Court gave to the other two defendants, Dylan Boyd and Zak 8 Boyd.

9 THE COURT: I don't want to put them in the same 10 cart, you know, as your argument proceeds because those two 11 individuals did plead guilty, they did assist the government, 12 and I did have the chance to observe them under tested cross-13 examination. And the government did make a motion, which gave 14 the Court the vehicle to consider a sentence below the 15 statutory minimum.

16 MR. BOYCE: Understood.

17 THE COURT: I don't dispute your comment that it's 18 an unusual case, but I think I can say that with respect to 19 each one of these cases around the country. They're highly 20 unique, highly individualized, very different from your felon
21 in possession of a firearm. And so, therefore, your argument 22 is resonating with me as to what other judges have done, but 23 there is significant distinction between all of these cases 24 which really requires the trial judge to give a very 25 individualized approach in sentencing.

1 And that's specific in these guidelines that we've been 2 talking about, when we have to find motive and intent and 3 decide something beyond a reasonable doubt or by clear and 4 convincing evidence. I mean, these are very unique cases.

5 MR. BOYCE: I agree, your Honor, and you just hit 6 the nail on the head as far as our entire argument is 7 concerned. You can't look to the sins of all the other 8 codefendants. You've got to look at Omar Hassan.

9 Did he target a specific individual to go kill? No.

10 Did he set something up where he was doing something so 11 focused that he should be severely punished?

12 Was a single hair on the head of a single person 13 touched by Omar Hassan in this overall conspiracy that 14 apparently lasted for five years? No.

15 Was he still participating when Daniel Boyd, by his own 16 acknowledgement was spiraling downward and getting worse and 17 worse?

18 What this young man did was foolish and immature 19 discussion, and, while he was trying to find his moral 20 compass, said and did some things he should not have done.

21 He acknowledges the jury has found him guilty. He 22 should be punished for that. But he is hopeful that the Court 23 can take into consideration this notebook of all the new 24 information that the jury didn't have in fashioning an 25 appropriate sentence.

1 And, as the Court has already said, the purpose is not 2 to punish too severely, but to give just enough punishment, 3 but not too much.

4 So, again, with all due respect to Mr. Yaghi, with all 5 due respect to my colleagues who are arguing later in the day, 6 Omar Hassan is the most unique of these defendants in this 7 case because of his real lack of involvement.

8 And we would request the Court consider these other 9 cases, consider the uniqueness of Omar Hassan as compared to 10 Ziyad Yaghi, as compared to Sherifi, Subasic and the Boyds, 11 and consider the 50- to 70-month range; something where he's 12 been punished, where the message has been sent to other 13 children of this nation.

14 Omar is a citizen. He's not going anywhere. He loves 15 this country. He's about to denounce again terrorism. Give 16 him an opportunity to go out in the community and tell these 17 kids think before you post, think before you say, think before 18 you associate with people who may have more murderous or bad 19 intent than you really have.

20 Mr. Hassan has said that he does care to address the 21 Court, and he would like this opportunity.

22 THE COURT: I'll certainly want to hear from you, 23 as is your right. But let me ask the government, to the 24 extent we have a motion for a variance or arguments as to a 25 particular sentence, now is your time, Mr. Kellhofer. Are 1 you ready? Do you want to be heard further?

2 MR. KELLHOFER: Specific as to a motion on the 3 variance, we have nothing to add, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Why don't you -- can you wind 5 everything up into what the government's argument would be if 6 you would like to suggest a particular sentence?

7 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: And why you suggest that?

9 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor.

10 Taking all of that up, I first would note that the 11 government doesn't have much response to the cases just 12 provided, that were just received. Although we would note 13 very much as you mentioned with regard to the Boyds' guilty 14 pleads being very, very different, three of these four cases 15 are guilty plea situations.

16 As to the fourth one, sparse on the facts and difficult 17 to utilize to be of any assistance would be our opinion of 18 them. Certainly, there are likely cases out there with very 19 much higher sentences, and we think that would be equally 20 appropriate to try and bring those in and dispute that that 21 would be the appropriate right route.

22 These are highly individualistic cases. Specific to 23 this case, the first what I think is absolutely worth noting, 24 simply due to the presentation by Mr. Hassan, is -- everything 25 points towards completely unrepentant.

1 The search for a moral compass, the statements of,
2 well, one day he'll be able to say don't go on Facebook and 3 say silly things.

4 It is a complete lack of recognition of the import of 5 the crime committed.

6 To be very clear, Mr. Hassan has been convicted. He 7 was provided excellent services, as was evidenced throughout 8 the last few years, by his counsel. The evidence was a highly 9 tested, extremely litigated case over a few weeks. Twelve 10 members, citizens, unanimously decided beyond a reasonable 11 doubt that he was guilty of this offense.

12 It's almost difficult, as a litigator and as someone 13 quite steeped in the facts of this case, not to want to bite 14 off and want to go in and argue all of these affidavits or 15 statements that have been presented; but the fact of the 16 matter is it would be inappropriate and it is not what this 17 hearing is about, because at this time this individual is 18 convicted of this crime, and he does not seem to fully grasp 19 that. So I would start with, we believe that to be of high 20 value.

21 The searching of a moral compass is not deciding should 22 I go this school or should I go to that school, finding 23 himself. This is a little different. This is an individual 24 who determined that he would be a member of a conspiracy whose 25 goal was to provide support, and that support was to further

1 killing people. That is what he is convicted of. Losing 2 sight of that would be an injustice. That is a determination 3 he made.

4 And we do fully recognize, as the Court has pointed 5 out, that all of these individuals -- and this one as well -- 6 did have family issues and were attempting to fill a void.
7 But I would also note that there was evidence -- there was 8 testimony from individuals who had the same problem.

9 I would only point to Holden Eliason, who pointed out 10 that at a young age, when he showed up with his single mother 11 and met with Jude and met with Daniel Boyd, he recognized that 12 was wrong. And he had almost pulled him in. He said, 13 according to him, he was trying to find his way. He was. He 14 was trying to find his way in the belief that he held as a 15 Muslim. And he stands in stark contrast to what this 16 individual decided.

17 The evidence displayed an individual who didn't make 18 silly statements, wasn't being goofy, but who repeatedly, over 19 time, held to a tenet -- held to a very dangerous belief. He 20 embraced it. He embraced the beliefs of Anwar al-Awlaki and 21 other individuals. And it's a shame those materials exist.
22 This was an individual who made a decision, a grown up 23 decision; one that entailed believing that "smoking a Jew like 24 a cigi" is a laudable thing.

25 Those are communications that occurred between him and

1 his friends, his coconspirators. They hold sentiments that if 2 he were in charge, he'd "merk," or kill all Americanized 3 Muslims.

4 And this is a conspiracy crime, and conspiracy, in and 5 of itself, is a crime for a reason, because people are more 6 likely to do things in groups, and they feed off of each 7 other, and that very much existed here.

8 His actions, his beliefs, his encouragement to Ziyad 9 Yaghi while Ziyad Yaghi was over in Jordan attempting to 10 further this conspiracy, attempting to meet up with what he 11 considered to be mujahidin so that he could fight.

12 All of these are effects from a conspiracy. These are 13 effects from this conspiracy. These are effects from 14 Mr. Hassan's conduct and agreement in this conspiracy.

15 There were other individuals that showed a very stark
16 contrast, such as Jamar Carter, who testified that the beliefs 17 that Omar Hassan had were red flags to him, caused him to 18 break relations. He was concerned over the praise for videos 19 depicting car bombings that Omar Hassan had.

20 The relationship and the seeming adoration that 21 Mr. Hassan had towards Anwar al-Awlaki is chilling. The works 22 that were passed amongst them that were praised included such 23 things as the Book of Jihad, Constance on the Path, and 44
24 Ways to Support Jihad. And, as we heard and as was evident
25 from the testimony particularly from Mr. Kohlmann, Anwar

1 al-Awlaki has been a radical individual since 2003.

2 Proclaiming these views, pushing these views, acting on 3 these views is harmful. Extremely harmful. It's harmful to 4 the Muslim community; it's harmful to the greater American 5 community; it's harmful to the international community.

6 I mentioned previously that the video posted by 7 Mr. Hassan, the "Message from the Mujahidin to Americans," 8 that is how steeped Mr. Hassan was in this view, such to the 9 point of upholding the values propagated by that video, that 10 the improvised explosive device that common knowledge tells us 11 has harmed hundreds of Americans fighting in Afghanistan, 12 fighting in Iraq, that those are justified actions.
13 Propagating that is something that's despicable.

14 All of that culminated, in the government's view, with 15 Omar traveling in 2007 with his buddy in order to further this 16 cause.

17 And, as I stated previously, when he was questioned by 18 Agent Minella, his view is that the Iraqis fighting against 19 the Americans were simply freedom-fighters.

20 When in jail, he did, in fact, have communication and 21 reach out specifically to Anwar al-Awlaki. This is all highly 22 indicative of where this individual is in his mindset. And he 23 was charged in a conspiracy for that.

24 And I would ask that this Court take great view of the 25 harms that exist by virtue of a conspiracy, and the ones that

1 occurred here. All of the individuals fed off of each other.
2 It is a rock, pushed, it rolls, it speeds up, it gathers
3 speed, and it does result in great harm. Harm, as we heard, 4 existed, according to Ms. Elena Mohammad, greatly. Her son 5 had left.

6 Is that the responsibility of Omar Hassan? Yes, it is.
7 Omar Hassan, who fully supported and worked with Yaghi.
8 Yaghi, who brought Jude; Jude, who, then met with Daniel.
9 Jude, who then traveled with the view of dying in Afghanistan.
10 Yes, absolutely. There was great harm caused by the actions
11 and beliefs of Mr. Omar Hassan.

12 It is our view that the 15-year cap of this offense is 13 fortunate for Omar Hassan, and that a 15-year sentence is most 14 appropriate.

15 Claiming that not one harm -- not one strand of hair 16 was harmed is ridiculous. That would be a different charge.

17 It's not a question of what are the things he didn't 18 do. It's a question of what did he do, and what is the 19 appropriate punishment. And, in this case, it's our view that 20 the 15-year maximum sentence allowed is, in fact, appropriate.

21 Thank you.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, Mr. Hassan would like to 24 speak, but I would be remiss without asking the Court to 25 acknowledge -- I know you have three defendants today. Could 1 I ask those who are here on behalf of Mr. Hassan to just 2 stand.

3 THE COURT: Yes, certainly.

4 MR. BOYCE: The people from Raleigh who are here
5 on behalf of Mr. Hassan, would you please just stand?

6 (Several spectators standing.)

7 THE COURT: Okay. Let the record reflect a 8 substantial number of people in the room have stood.

9 Thank you.

10 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor. There are also 11 people outside who were allowed in the courtroom.

12 THE COURT: We do have limited seating.

13 All right, Mr. Hassan, what would you have the Court 14 know?

15 DEFENDANT HASSAN: Thank you, Judge. First of 16 all, I want to start off by thanking Allah, God, for, without 17 him, I would not have been able to get through this. And he 18 has let me learn a whole lot from this experience. And he put 19 peace in my heart.

20 For the past two-and-a-half years I've been in jail.
21 And most of it has been in a cell. In fact, for the past four 22 months they've put me on solitary confinement. And although 23 it is some tough time, it did give me a good chance to think 24 deep and reflect on many things.

25 I've thought of my life, thought of things I've done,

1 things I regret, who I am, and what I want to become.

2 Of course, I thought what in the world did I do to 3 deserve this. I was 19 years old when I met Daniel Boyd, and 4 I had no clue that just by associating with him, just by 5 taking a trip with him, that I would end up like this.

6 I will admit, I did make mistakes in my life. I did 7 say some dumb things; did some dumb things; I did get a 8 misdemeanor here and there; and, I did post some highly 9 inflammatory comments on the Internet. Yes, I admit to this.
10 But I am no terrorist.

11 And even though I did some dumb things, I was also 12 doing good things. I was going to school at NC State 13 University, maintained my 3.0 GPA. I was working a lot. I 14 worked at UPS. Worked with my dad in the car business. And I 15 worked as a soccer referee for kids at the Capital Area Soccer 16 League. I was also going to the IAR. I was participating in 17 the programs. And I eventually became a youth counselor 18 there. And as Mr. Boyce said, I was finding my own moral 19 compass.

20 When the FBI approached me in 2007 and kept asking me
21 about Mr. Boyd, I realized to not associate with him again.
22 And that's exactly what I did.

23 Now, I want to speak briefly about my beliefs.

24 I am Muslim. I'm proud to be a Muslim. And Islamic 25 faith calls for peace and justice for all humanity, whether

1 you're Muslim, Christian or Jewish. And a verse in the Qur'an 2 says whoever kills somebody -- whoever kills a soul, it is as 3 if you had killed mankind entirely. And if you -- whoever 4 saves one, it is as if you have saved mankind entirely.

5 Another verse says there shall be no compulsion in the 6 acceptance of religion.

7 Those are just two quick examples of many in the Holy 8 Qur'an that promote peace and justice. And Islam teaches us 9 to be the best example, to be the best in manners, to be the 10 most honest, to control our anger, to love others as you love 11 yourself, to enjoy good and forbid evil. This is what my 12 religion preaches and this is what I believe in.

13 My religion doesn't preach the killing of others for 14 any race or religion, whether they're Muslim, Christian, 15 Jewish, White, Black, Spanish, American, Iraqi. We're all 16 human. We need to coexist.

17 One second.

18 (Pause.)

19 Yes, we're all human and we need to coexist.

20 Now, I do know I did post some very stupid and 21 inappropriate things on the Internet, especially the rap 22 posts. I swear those things had no truth behind it. I was 19 23 years old when I posted it, and I was just goofing off joking, 24 and I meant no harm by it.

25 And, looking back on it now, I see how silly and dumb I

1 was, and I really do regret it. I regret posting these 2 things, and I apologize for it. And I apologize for all the 3 dumb actions that I've done. I know those things are very 4 offensive and obnoxious.

5 These past two-and-a-half years I've become much more 6 mature and much wiser, and I will truly say that I have 7 learned from my previous mistakes.

8 I understand the jury found me guilty for Count 1 and 9 not can guilty for Count 2. And I appreciate the not guilty 10 verdict for Count 2. But I strongly and respectfully disagree 11 with the guilty verdict of Count 1. I never ever conspired 12 with anybody to provide material support to terrorists. And 13 that's the truth. And there's not a single person in this 14 world that has interacted with me or known me that thinks I'm 15 a terrorist. And, in fact, even those who testified against 16 me in the trial, every single person, nobody said that they 17 thought I was a threat of any kind.

18 And just to say -- I want to say that even the jails 19 that I've been in since the arrest on these charges I've had 20 officers come to me, actually even here in the New Bern jail, 21 they'd come up to me and they'd say, man, I hope you beat this 22 case, because you do not seem like a terrorist at all.

23 I'm not saying this to praise myself, or anything. I 24 just want the Court to consider that there's much more to me 25 than what the government portrayed of me. And although the

1 government claims I'm a terrorist, I want to say it again loud
2 and clear, I am not a terrorist and I condemn terrorism. I 3 emphatically reject any form of terrorism, whether it is 4 domestic or international. I reject any action against 5 innocent people anywhere in the world. And having seen things 6 for the past two-and-a-half years, I've become stronger in my 7 opposition to terrorism.

8 I wanted to briefly touch on the Anwar al-Awlaki thing.
9 If somebody wants to believe -- I did not know he was a 10 radical or a terrorist at that time. I'm -- I really did not 11 know. I used to be a big fan of him. He used to have good 12 lectures on stories of prophets and different -- he's a very 13 good speaker. So, I became pretty much of a fan -- I became a 14 good fan of him.

15 When I found out he had a web site, I became excited.
16 And when he posted an article, it was the first time I had 17 seen something of that sort, and I quickly -- or 18 spontaneously, I would say, just e-mailed him. I did not 19 think I was doing anything illegal at the time. And I only 20 learned that he was a terrorist after I was arrested on these 21 charges, when my attorneys would come and they would tell me 22 about it.

23 And, to clarify, the 44 Ways to Support Jihad article 24 was not published until 2009. So, when me -- whenever we went 25 to Daniel Boyd's house, we did not discuss that article,

1 because I was at his house in 2007.

2 Anyway, to be completely honest, I was very shocked 3 when the verdict came back as guilty. To me, I felt that the 4 evidence clearly exonerated me, and I felt that the truth 5 became clear.

6 And I'm saying this because, since I have been found 7 guilty, I understand that you have to impose a sentence on me.
8 I really hope that you take this into consideration. Please 9 take into consideration the trial testimony, the exhibits 10 presented, the affidavits, and also the character letters.

11 When I'm released, I plan to do good things. I plan to 12 go back to school and continue my education. I plan to get 13 married and have children. I plan to work and just live a 14 normal life. And I also intend to go back to the community.
15 And I want to speak to the youth about what I've learned from 16 my experience. I want to speak to them about guilt by 17 association, who to choose as mentors and friends, how to stay 18 away from radical ideology, and how posting stupid and 19 inappropriate things on the Internet can get you in big 20 trouble and ruin your life.

21 I ask the Court to please help me put this whole ordeal 22 behind me and to give me a chance -- a chance to become a 23 productive member of society in the United States.

24 Before I finish, I must thank the Court for allowing to 25 have Mr. Daniel Boyce as my attorney. I think, when it comes

1 to having a lawyer, it does not get better than Mr. Boyce. He 2 has been honest with me 100% since day one, has worked 3 extremely, extremely hard on this case, and has defended me 4 zealously and from his heart.

5 I'm also very thankful for having Ms. Brenna Hartley
6 and Mr. Michael McKinnon -- I'm not sure if he's here along 7 with the defense team -- who, for if past two-and-a-half 8 years, I have met in preparation for this case, who have met 9 me on a regular bases, have done more than I can even ask.
10 And it's been a wonderful experience in working with them, and 11 I'm very, very grateful for it.

12 I also must thank my family, especially my dad and my 13 mom, whom I've always had a good relationship with them. My 14 dad has always been a good father, my mom has always been a 15 good mother. I love them very much. Also my two sisters, 16 Sarra and Hajar. All of them have supported me 100%. I know 17 this has been very tough on them. I'm very sorry for the 18 trouble I've brought to them, and I want to thank them very, 19 very much.

20 Also, I want to thank friends and members of the 21 community who have supported me. I do appreciate it.

22 And I want to thank you, Judge Flanagan, for your time 23 and your patience, for compassion and understanding of what 24 we've gone through.

25 Thank you.

1 THE COURT: Have I heard from all sides fully now?

2 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor.

3 MR. BOYCE: Yes, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: All right.

5 (Pause.)

6 All right, I'm ready to sentence the defendant.

7 Except as I've noted on the record, I accept the 8 findings in the presentence report and I deem them credible 9 and reliable.

10 At the start of the sentencing hearing the Court 11 constructed a vehicle by which several matters would be 12 included as a part of the presentence report, those being the 13 letters of the defendant's counsel dated December 28th of last 14 year and January 5th of this year, and the probation office 15 will attach those to the presentence report that will go in to 16 the Bureau of Prisons and inform concerning you.

17 I said at the start that I did intend to recommend the 18 most intensive drug-treatment program that can be made 19 available, and I do. If you're accepted into that program and 20 fulfill it's requirements, it's possible that you can take 21 some time off your sentence. Regardless, if you're not 22 eligible for that credit, you need to put the use of marijuana 23 behind you to go forward.

24 Now, I've considered the advice of the guidelines and 25 the factors set forth in 18 United States Code, Section 3553.

1 And I would note that you willingly became a part of the 2 Internet terrorist propaganda machine that is a great canker
3 in this world and contributed to their hateful speech in a way 4 that your ideas could be very immediately disseminated. And 5 you're adherent of someone who is a leader for a significant 6 period of time in that effort to indoctrinate and persuade and 7 promote.

8 And you stand here having been in contact with the 9 criminal justice system from the age of 16 until your arrest.
10 So, over one-quarter of your life you have been in contact 11 with law enforcement, and, more than any other defendant, 12 should understand the consequences of your actions and that 13 punishment would be a necessary result to a defendant who was 14 found guilty.

15 Regrettably, it seems to have emboldened you, and 16 opportunities you had to be dissuaded from your involvement 17 not only with Daniel Boyd, but with situation Ziyad Yaghi and 18 that whole platform that was at work in and around Wake County 19 endeavored to promote this radical ideology and send people 20 overseas to support it.

21 You had more efforts than many -- more opportunity than 22 anyone else were attributed to you to try to dissuade you.
23 And that gives the Court concern about the propensities that 24 you've demonstrated, this disregard for the law, this lack of 25 respect for the law.

1 Your criminal record shows a demonstrated disregard for 2 the property rights of others, as well as the safety of 3 others, with the propensities that you've shown and acted on 4 to commit violence and harm, including to those you would 5 claim are very special to you.

6 So, while very young, over a quarter of your life you
7 had this -- these experiences. And filling this void 8 created -- however it was created -- you were prey to and a 9 proponent of something that was incredibly harmful and 10 destructive. And for that you find yourself here to be 11 sentenced, providing support to terrorists.

12 You are, indeed, very fortunate as to the not guilty 13 verdict with respect to the second count.

14 I am not compelled in this case to conclude whether the 15 advice of the guidelines beyond the statutory maximum create 16 or accomplish the purposes of sentencing, so I reflect on the 17 statutory maximum. And I am compelled to conclude that that 18 is the appropriate sentence in this case. That is a sentence 19 that's sufficient, but not greater than necessary. That's a 20 sentence that can protect the public, discourage this type of 21 conduct, promote respect for the law, and provide any needed 22 treatment or care.

23 So, pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, 24 Mr. Hassan is committed to the custody of the Bureau of 25 Prisons to be imprisoned for a term of 180 months.

1 Now, you will have a life afterwards, Mr. Hassan, and 2 you have plans for it. You can get out of prison sooner by 3 your good conduct in prison. You'll get credit for time 4 served.

5 You'll be supervised for three years when you get out 6 of prison, and if you break any law, if you possess a weapon 7 or drugs illegally, you will be in violation of the judgment, 8 and that could cause you to go back to prison.

9 Now, there are some other standard conditions and some 10 special ones. In addition to recommending you, though, for 11 that intensive drug-treatment program -- you're a very smart 12 man -- I'm going to recommend you for further education.

13 Take advantage of any opportunity in prison and get 14 that moral compass straight, so that when you get out you're 15 following it.

16 And then you'll be supervised for three years. You'll 17 participate in a program approved by the probation office for 18 the treatment of addiction or dependency.

19 You'll provide information to your probation officer 20 about your efforts to get a job and keep a job.

21 And you'll have to consent to warrantless searches 22 during that period of time to make sure you're compliant.

23 And you're going to have to cooperate in the collection 24 of DNA.

25 There's a $100 special assessment, which is due

1 immediately.

2 There's no restitution at issue in this case.

3 I've reviewed your financial circumstances, and I don't 4 think that you have the ability to pay a fine within the 5 guideline range. I'm going to impose a fine of $5,000.
6 That's a fine that you should be able to pay and satisfy 7 before your release from prison through your efforts in 8 prison. The fine, however, by law, is due immediately.

9 I'm going to advise you in a moment of your appeal
10 rights; but, before I do so, without waiving any objection, 11 are there any other requests, Mr. Boyce, for particular 12 placement or any programs, or anything that bears on this part 13 of the sentence that you would ask me to think about?

14 MR. BOYCE: May I have one minute with my client?

15 THE COURT: Yes.

16 (Pause.

17 MR. BOYCE: Your Honor, we assume that the family 18 will continue to live in Wake County. There are no plans for 19 them to move elsewhere. So, we would ask the Court to 20 recommend a designation as close to his family as possible.

21 THE COURT: I'll recommend Butner, and with the 22 hope that the Bureau of Prisons will consider placing you 23 there.

24 And, for the government, are there any matters that 25 haven't been considered on the record?

1 MR. KELLHOFER: No, your Honor.

2 THE COURT: And, Mr. Wasco, from the probation 3 office?

4 PROBATION OFFICER WASCO: No, your Honor. Thank 5 you.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 Now, Mr. Hassan, I want to turn my attention and yours
8 to what your appeal rights are. And, Mr. Boyce, I'm 9 anticipating you're going to order a copy of that transcript, 10 the trial transcript? I'm not sure about the processes of 11 this, but I would ask that the trial transcript be ordered as 12 quickly as possible to promote the resolution of all matters, 13 and I know that you'll need it for purposes of your appeal.

14 MR. BOYCE: I don't know if I'll still be on the 15 appeal, but we'll go ahead and get that process rolling. I 16 think some of the other defendants are planning on doing the 17 same thing.

18 Thank you, your Honor.

19 THE COURT: All right. And as you're mindful of, 20 upon your filing of a notice of appeal, your service is 21 concluded in the ordinary course.

22 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: But I'll leave that up to others to 24 finally decide.

25 I would note, too, you have been aided and assisted by

1 distinguished counsel who has worked very hard for you, and I
2 have a special window into your case, as the others, by virtue 3 of the procedures the Court's put in place to provide for 4 regular compensation, which is very important in a case like 5 this. And so, I can say from that window, too, as well as the 6 Court's objects that are a matter of record, that you have 7 received very diligent service, and you recognize that, too, 8 and I think that's worthwhile to note.

9 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

10 THE COURT: People have confidence in you, they're 11 here to support you, and you have some very strong qualities 12 that I think that if you are able to go forward and become a 13 productive member of society, that there are contributions 14 that you will be able to make.

15 Now I turn my attention and yours to your appeal 16 rights. You can appeal if you believe there is something very 17 wrong with your conviction or with the sentence. You have a 18 statutory right to appeal if you think it goes against law.

19 Now, you haven't waived any of those rights. They're 20 all accruing to you. But there's a time frame in which you 21 have to exercise them, and it's usually 14 days, with no 22 exception, or very limited ones -- 14 days from the day that 23 judgment goes on the docket. That is the deadline for a 24 defendant to appeal. Mr. Boyce will talk to you more about 25 that, I'm confident.

1 If you can't afford the cost of an appeal, you can
2 apply for permission to appeal for free. And, if you request,
3 Ms. Rudd will prepare and file the appeal paperwork for you.

4 Does your client have any questions about the judgment
5 or about his appeal rights?

6 (Pause.)

7 DEFENDANT HASSAN: I just want to say that I don't 8 understand how 15 years -- do I deserve that?

9 THE COURT: Yes.

10 DEFENDANT HASSAN: What did I do?

11 THE COURT: It's a matter of record.

12 I'll put the defendant back in the custody of the 13 Marshals Service, and we'll take an hour's recess and 14 reconvene with Mr. Sherifi at quarter of 1.

15 MR. BOYCE: Thank you, your Honor.

16 (Defendant Hassan withdrew from the courtroom.)

17 (Luncheon recess.)

18 (In open court following the luncheon recess. No 19 defendants are present.)

20 THE COURT: Good afternoon, Mr. McAfee.

21 MR. McAFEE: Good afternoon, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Let's invite Mr. Sherifi in.

23 And who for the government will be heard in this case?

24 MR. BOWLER: I will, your Honor.

25 (Defendant Sherifi entered the courtroom.)

1 THE COURT: Mr. McAfee, in the case of the United 2 States of America versus Hysen Sherifi, have you had enough 3 time to prepare for sentencing? I recognize you had some 4 unforeseen issues that resulted in a late filing. I've read 5 the material. Are you ready to go forward?

6 MR. McAFEE: Yes, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Sherifi, likewise, the 8 probation office has prepared a report about you. Have you 9 had enough time to read it?

10 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Are you ready for sentencing today?

12 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Yes.

13 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

14 The jury returned guilty verdicts on all counts charged 15 by the government. In your case, that is a conviction as to 16 Count 1, conspiring to provide material support to terrorists;
17 Count 2, conspiring to murder, kidnap, maim and injure people 18 in a foreign country; Count 4, possessing a firearm in 19 furtherance of a crime of violence; Count 8 is the same; and 20 Count 11 is conspiring to kill a federal officer or employee.

21 I want to start by informing the defendant of how the 22 sentencing hearing will proceed and give you a forecast of the 23 course of this hearing today.

24 The Court must fashion a sentence that's sufficient, 25 but not greater than necessary, that considers the advice of 1 the guidelines and accomplishes the statutory goals of 2 sentencing. The law requires that the Court begin the 3 decision by correctly calculating your advisory guideline

4 sentence.

5 The sentencing guidelines, as I'm sure Mr. McAfee has 6 explained to you, is a tool implemented by Congress to suggest 7 an appropriate sentence based primarily on the severity of the 8 offense conduct, as well as the defendant's previous criminal 9 history. I may accept any undisputed portion of the report as 10 a finding of fact in establishing the guideline range.

11 And there are certainly some objections to be heard.
12 If you have objected, as is clear, to any part of this report, 13 I will resolve those objections before determining the 14 guideline range. And, in this case, given the nature of some 15 of the objections, it will be necessary for the Court to order 16 its decisions in a certain way.

17 The burden is on the government to prove the facts 18 underlying the enhancement by a preponderance of the evidence, 19 in some instances, by clear and convincing evidence in others, 20 and beyond a reasonable doubt with respect to others. The 21 burden is on the defendant to show any downward adjustment is 22 warranted by a preponderance of the evidence.

23 Now, the guidelines are advisory. They're not 24 mandatory, as they were years ago; but the Court is required 25 to consider their advice.

1 Now, I have substantial discretion to impose a sentence 2 above or below the guideline range if I feel the sentence is 3 necessary to accomplish the goals of sentencing. I'm not even 4 going to assume, under current law, that the guideline range 5 calculated in this case is a reasonable one.

6 After I have calculated your advisory sentence, I must 7 allow both sides the opportunity to argue for whatever 8 sentence they feel is appropriate; and I'll hear at some 9 length from Mr. McAfee and from Mr. Bowler.

10 Under 18 United States Code, Section 3553, I'll base 11 the Court's sentencing decision on the nature and 12 circumstances and seriousness of the offense, your background 13 and history, the need for the sentence to promote respect for 14 the law, to discourage this type of conduct, to protect the 15 public, and to provide any needed treatment or care in the 16 most effective manner possible.

17 I will give you the chance, before imposing the 18 sentence finally, also to be heard, Mr. Sherifi.

19 And then I'll fashion a sentence based on an 20 individualized assessment of those factors found at 18 United 21 States Code, Section 3553, and the information in this case
22 that has been received. And I must explain why I've chosen a 23 particular sentence, and I will do so.

24 Mr. McAfee, does your client have any questions about 25 the sentencing process before we go forward?

1 MR. McAFEE: No, your Honor.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Do you wish to suggest -- I
3 think you were here in the courtroom in the morning session.
4 Do you wish to suggest any particular order that the Court 5 take up your client's objections?

6 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, I can inform the Court 7 that as to objections 1, 2, 3 and 4, I'm not going to ask to 8 be heard any further on those matters. Those were primarily 9 made to preserve our pretrial position and some trial 10 objections. The substantive --

11 THE COURT: I hate to interrupt you, but let me 12 make sure my numbers match yours and I am conversant on what 13 you are not opposing.

14 MR. McAFEE: Yes, your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Or not wishing to be heard further on.
16 So, you say 1 through 4?

17 MR. McAFEE: 1 through 4, your Honor. 1 through 3 18 are labeled in my copy as factual, and number 4 is factual and 19 legal.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. McAFEE: As to 5, 6 and 7, which are the legal 22 and guidelines applications, those are the three objections 23 which I raise which are consistent across all three 24 defendants, and I think the government has to make a showing 25 in support of those.

1 THE COURT: And I have received in your case the 2 motion for a variance, and reviewed that, as well.

3 As to these factual objections, the defendant does not 4 wish to be heard further concerning the purpose of his travel
5 to Kosovo; that he misled a philanthropist into giving him 6 $15,000; that he and Mr. Boyd discussed a plan to attack the 7 Marine Corps base at Quantico; and the summary of the offense 8 conduct.

9 I recognize each side will argue the inferences of the 10 facts that have been established, but I don't find any reason 11 to overturn these factual findings. So, I'll move very 12 swiftly now to your objections that are numbered 5 through 7.

13 And the first one involves 3A1.1(a), which the Court 14 must decide beyond a reasonable doubt the propriety of this 15 objection. Is that where you want to start?

16 MR. McAFEE: If the Court please, yes.

17 THE COURT: All right. All defendants have 18 objected to this enhancement for intentionally selecting any 19 victim or property because of the actual or perceived race, 20 color, religion, national origin or ethnicity. This provision 21 of the guidelines provides that if the Court at sentencing 22 determines beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant 23 intentionally selected any victim or any property as the 24 object of the offense of conviction, because of the actual 25 perceived race, color, religion, origin, ethnicity, gender,

1 identities, and the other provisions, then the offense level 2 should be increased by three.

3 Now, in this report the probation office has gone into 4 some detail not only about your response to its determination 5 that that enhancement applies, but I should note for the 6 record the detail that it provides concerning the related 7 cases, the codefendants. I've overruled the objection 8 concerning the presentation as to the offense conduct.

9 Certainly, without waiving the defendant's right -- or 10 disregarding his right to argue the implications here, the 11 probation office has gone through the whole course, including 12 making mention that the defendant in this case contacted 13 Bajram Asllani. This is the only defendant that the Court's 14 aware -- well, to be sentenced today that has had any contact 15 with Mr. Asllani.

16 The defendant's criminal history is minimal. He has no 17 scoreable history. If the terrorist enhancement is correct in 18 this case, it moves from a zero to a 6.

19 The family background is given to me. It is clear that 20 there was a very difficult childhood that your client endured 21 during the war, dodging bullets, trying to make money for his 22 family selling trinkets and cigarettes, and then finding 23 himself in a refugee camp with a great deal of responsibility 24 on his young shoulders. And then coming into this country 25 eventually and that really didn't turn out to be, at least in

1 North Carolina, what he thought it was going to be.

2 The record supports that the family bettered itself
3 here. It also reflects some instability in the family unit -- 4 issues among the children and the parents, issues as between 5 this defendant and his sisters, and a difficult time trying to 6 develop attachments among peers in the community.

7 I've reviewed all of this, and that reflects on his 8 education at Broughten until his senior year, when the 9 defendant's family obtained the ability to own a house, and he 10 transferred to another high school. I'm aware that he's made 11 some effort to get further education. And he has a work 12 history, that's clear.

13 The base offense level, the probation office believes, 14 is a 33. This gets to the objection that's at issue here in 15 paragraph 55, which adds three points.

16 The other objections which are going to be challenged 17 add another 15 points total, and result in an adjusted offense 18 level of a 51. However, under the guidelines, the offense is 19 not to be treated as higher than 43. So, the total offense 20 level in this case, the probation office reports on page 17, 21 is a 43.

22 Given the convictions of record and the high criminal 23 history and the total offense level, the advice of the 24 guidelines is as follows:

25 On Count 1, the defendant faces with respect to the 1 crime of conspiring to provide material support to terrorists

2 not more than 15 years in prison. The advice is 180 months.
3 Were it not for the statutory cap, the advice that I would be 4 reading from this page would say life.

5 Counts 2 and 11, Count 2 being conspiracy to murder, 6 kidnap, maim and injure people in a foreign country, and Count 7 11, conspiring to kill a federal officer or employee, those 8 carry mandatory -- rather, maximum terms of incarceration of 9 life as to each. The advice of the guidelines is life.

10 Count 4 carries with it with respect to the crime of 11 possession of a firearm in furtherance of a crime of violence, 12 a punishment of not less than five years nor more than life, 13 which must be consecutive to any other term of imprisonment 14 imposed. Therefore, the advice of the guidelines is 60 15 months.

16 Count 8 carries with it a penalty of not less than 25 17 years or more than life, consecutive.

18 So, the defendant faces some very serious consecutive 19 sentences totaling 360 months; 180 months on Count 1 and the 20 advice on Counts 2 and 11 of life imprisonment.

21 So, now let me turn back to this objection number 3.
22 The defendant is arguing that there were no identifiable
23 victims in this case. And what else would you wish the Court 24 to consider?

25 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, just simply pointing out

1 the inconsistency that the presentence report says there's no
2 identifiable victims yet there's an enhancement attributable
3 to the victims in this case. And I think it's predicated upon 4 a finding of either religion or national origin. I think 5 that's the probation officer's response. I think the 6 government is held to the burden of proof of showing some sort 7 of selection process regarding it.

8 THE COURT:

9 Okay. In the prior case I had cause to consider this.

10 What would you say in this case, Mr. Bowler?

11 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, essentially every 12 argument applicable to the last case is applicable here, plus 13 more.

14 This defendant discussed attacking Camp Bondsteel in 15 Kosovo. This defendant was working for a medical -- for a 16 private firm that delivered medical goods, and, in that 17 employment, had a chance to tour Fort Bragg and came back 18 talking about how vulnerable Fort Bragg was.

19 This defendant was present, as I recall, for the 20 discussions, the rapturist discussions, by Daniel Boyd about 21 how to take down and attack, kill, cut off fingers at 22 Quantico.

23 This defendant, beyond that, also additionally 24 expressed a willingness to do anything that he could 25 accomplish to attack America, including, I think the phrase

1 was, drive to the Senate, implying some bombing attack. He 2 also referenced Fort Dix at another point in the evidence.

3 I think the record -- it would be hard to be clearer 4 that this defendant was so imbued with his radical Islamic 5 views that he wished to kill Americans and wound the United 6 States and retaliate against the United States for its 7 policies every way he could, just as he said.

8 He even expressed a willingness to fly. I don't even 9 know if he can fly, but he offered that in service, as well.

10 He's captured with that video cam bit of evidence that 11 was played actually conversing with another individual who has 12 been charged with terrorism over there.

13 The government has additional comments, but that would 14 be the heart of our comments on that point.

15 THE COURT: Well, the testimony the Court heard 16 from Melvin Weeks is compelling with respect to the Court's 17 decision on this objection. And I have strong recollection, 18 as well, of the videotape played of the defendant conversing 19 with Mr. Asllani, or an individual believed to be Mr. Asllani.

20 I think there's more than enough evidence the 21 defendants were conspiring to commit terrorist acts against 22 the non-Muslims or nonadherents to this radical ideology that 23 puts the defendant on the battleground and committed to 24 killing those not of like mind.

25 So, I find this enhancement properly assessed in this

1 case. I find it beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant 2 did intentionally select victims and in the manner that's 3 referred to in Section 3A1.1(a).

4 Now, that turns the Court's attention and the 5 defendant's to the next objection that you wish to be heard 6 on, and that is with respect to the three-level enhancement 7 for targeting official victims, 3A1.2.

8 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, the probation officer's 9 response to the objection, I'm unclear whether we're talking 10 about Count 2 or Count 11. Count 11 clearly, when you're -- 11 the count of conviction is a conspiracy to murder federal 12 employees, federal officers, and that would seem to be self-13 fulfilling as to this objection. However, I am uncertain, as 14 I stand here today, whether the Court can use an element of 15 the offense of Count 11 to then turn around and impose an 16 enhancement on anything outside of Count 11.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. McAFEE: And I don't know that the conspiracy 19 to -- the government's put on any showing that a conspiracy to 20 kill, murder, maim overseas necessarily applies in 21 Mr. Sherifi's case to American military personnel. We know 22 that Mr. Sherifi testified at trial and we know that in his 23 mind anyone he refers to as kaffir, not military personnel at 24 Bonsteel, but the occupiers and the Serbian oppressors in his 25 youth.

1 So, to be honest, I'm at a loss to argue to the Court 2 whether the simple conviction on Count 11 is sufficient to 3 sustain the objection -- or sufficient to sustain the 4 enhancement for an official victim being, in essence, the 5 victim.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, my comments as to the 8 last point would be largely applicable here. If Camp
9 Bondsteel was the only example, perhaps Mr. McAfee's argument 10 would give us pause. But in context it's clear he wanted to 11 get his -- to do violence to every official American 12 representative he could get access to, Bondsteel, Dix, Fort 13 Bragg, Quantico, Washington, D.C. He mentions the mall. I 14 think the record is very clear that the enhancement is 15 appropriate.

16 THE COURT: I think the enhancement is properly
17 made under the facts and circumstances established here. I 18 think the defendant in this -- before the Court now was very 19 motivated to victimize government officers or employees, and 20 the offense of conviction was motivated by the status of these 21 individuals in the military, in particular.

22 I recall some of the testimony again from Melvin Weeks 23 as to remarks this defendant made and assertions that he made, 24 and it's very clear what his propensities were.

25 So, I believe the probation officer correctly assessed

1 that 3A1.2 should apply. And I'll move on now, unless there 2 is another legal objection, to the terrorism enhancement, as 3 that's very compelling, where your client has no criminal 4 history and moves from a zero to a 6 because of this.

5 MR. McAFEE: Exactly, your Honor. It is, in our 6 opinion, a draconian step and would need to be applied very 7 carefully if it is to be applied at all.

8 In this case, your Honor, the Court must make specific 9 findings to apply this enhancement as to my client's intent to 10 commit any of these specified offenses, which is calculated to 11 influence or affect the conduct of government by intimidation
12 or coercion or to retaliate against government conduct.

13 And I think Mr. Bowler's comments thus far foreshadow 14 that, yes, my client did discuss various places around the 15 world, places where he had lived, places where he had talked 16 about going, but never really went.

17 Again, your Honor, given the jury's decision regarding 18 Count 11, I don't know if I'm simply barking up the wrong 19 tree, but I think the Court needs to make some kind of finding 20 as to my client's particular intent. I don't want to stand 21 here and repeat my closing argument, because that's what I 22 would do if I could, and have the Court view the evidence 23 different from the way the jury did. But I stand here now 24 having to respect that decision.

25 Thank you.

1 THE COURT: And at issue is an enhancement that 2 states if the offense is a felony that involved or was 3 intended to promote a federal crime of terrorism, increase by 4 12 levels. And, in this case, the defendant's criminal 5 history category shall be VI.

6 And the application notes incorporate a law by 7 reference which defines the federal crime of terrorism as 8 having two very distinct parts. And this is where the issue 9 lies. The offense that is calculated to influence or affect 10 the conduct of government by intimidation or coercion or to 11 retaliate against government conduct and is a violation of 12 enumerated law. And so, the Court's caused to focus very 13 squarely on the motive and the intent of the defendant.

14 What says the government?

15 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, the evidence in this case
16 captures the defendant in a discussion with Mr. Eddarkoui 17 vigorously endorsing, arguing against Eddarkoui's position 18 that suicide bombing is immoral. The defendant felt very 19 vigorously that it was just fine when used against kuffar.

20 Another bit of evidence that we should give note to is 21 the defendant passing on with approval to Mr. Weeks, the 22 informant who worked in Kosovo, a tape capturing a beheading, 23 a live beheading, with Mr. Sherifi's endorsement.

24 Mr. Sherifi has just expressed an absolute dedication 25 to the most violent form of radical Islam that we are aware

1 of.

2 He's convicted of both conspiracies, and properly so.
3 I mean, three conspiracies, Count 1, Count 2, and also the 4 conspiracy to murder military individuals on the continental 5 United States.

6 The government recalls his testimony on the stand, 7 which we believe heightens the conclusion that he stands 8 before the Court absolutely unrepentant. He was willing to 9 spin, evade, just refuse to answer questions or tell what were 10 clearly in the context of the evidence that's been brought 11 forth just untruths, with seemingly no compunction.

12 From the government's perspective, at least, there was 13 no effort at honestly addressing the evidence against him. He 14 just denied slickly everything, bringing to mind one of the 15 precepts of radical Islam, that war is deceit. He endorsed 16 virtually every form of barbarism that has captured our 17 headlines in recent years.

18 We think the terrorism enhancement is fully applicable 19 to him.

20 Counsel uses the word "draconian." The government 21 would see it from the perspective of what is necessary to 22 protect society from him.

23 He stands before the Court, some over two years now 24 into this litigative process, completely unrepentant. He 25 ignores -- we found it interesting that on this point --

1 defendant submits his own letter stating his difficult 2 childhood. What he seems to lose track of is the United 3 States took action, military action, risked men and arms, to 4 stop the Serbs predation in Kosovo, to stop the things he 5 complained about. The United States then takes Mr. Sherifi
6 in, and his family, and shelters them here and gives them a 7 chance for a new life, which to their credit they're 8 apparently taking advantage of.

9 Mr. Sherifi, despite that history, becomes so enamored 10 with the barbarism that he has -- the evidence shows him 11 endorsing, that he ignores that and wants to literally kill 12 members of the country that have shielded him and taken him 13 in.

14 That part is difficult, I think, for many of us to even 15 think about. How do you get from point A to point B.? We 16 don't ultimately know. We think that form of hate, of 17 distilled hate, of viciousness, preexisted Islam. But society 18 has to do what is necessary to protect itself from it. And he 19 is the personification of it at the moment.

20 We think that the sentencing enhancement is absolutely 21 supported by the evidence, by the factual presentation in 22 court, and should be imposed.

23 MR. McAFEE: May I respond, your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Yes.

25 MR. McAFEE: With due respect to Mr. Bowler, I

1 fail to see how any of what he's talked about brings the Court 2 to the causal connection between the conduct, whether he 3 endorsed barbaric behaviors or not, does not comment in any 4 way how any of that affects the conduct of government or to 5 retaliation against government conduct. Nothing in these 6 videos, nothing about the discussion of suicide bombing, deals 7 with government conduct or government retaliation, and that's 8 how we get to the enhancement for the federal crime of 9 terrorism.

10 THE COURT: Well, I'm thinking about his efforts 11 to support the actions of Mr. Asllani. And while he's in 12 Kosovo interpreting and translating radical ideology, he's -- 13 I would reasonably conclude that's conduct calculated to 14 influence or affect the conduct of the government by 15 intimidation or coercion. How would you distinguish that?

16 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, as to Mr. Asllani, until 17 the last day of Agent Minella's testimony, we didn't even -- 18 the jury didn't even make a connection between Ayman Hattab 19 and Bajram Asllani being the same person. There was very 20 little evidence as to what Mr. Asllani is up to, was up to, 21 what terrorist acts he undertook, if any, what organization he 22 may have belonged to or not. My client's the one who 23 explained that Bajram Asllani to him was someone who served in 24 the Kosovo Liberation Army, and that was the context in which 25 he knew him.

1 His translating of these documents, again, may be 2 reprehensible. It may be a way to spread propaganda that 3 frankly serves no purpose on earth other than to spread 4 hatred. I don't know. But how does that affect or influence 5 government conduct? Or how is that a retaliation against 6 government conduct? We don't know what it's a retaliation 7 against.

8 If we're painting with that broad a brush, we can say 9 he was convicted of Count 11, let's move on. But we can't do 10 that. There has to be specific findings as to my client's 11 intent.

12 THE COURT: Well, I think the evidence would 13 support his return to the United States in 2009 with the 14 intent to solicit funds and personnel to support the 15 mujahidin, and with some hopefulness on his part that he would 16 be able to secure farmland from which to launch various 17 challenges against military occupation or intervention, 18 however one would characterize it. There certainly was some 19 testimony about his hopes to create a place to house 20 mujahidin.

21 How would you distinguish that, and that 22 destabilization and consequence of that type of an action?

23 MR. McAFEE: Well, my first reaction is that I
24 believe he testified that that was not his intent to do so.
25 But, even if we're talking about establishing a base for

1 mujahidin within the context that he testified about, it would 2 be against Serbian soldiers. And I don't know if this 3 enhancement applies against government's other than the United 4 States.

5 If it is to be applied against conduct retaliatory to 6 the United States or attempting to influence or affect the 7 United States Government, I don't see how the purchase of 8 farmland in Kosovo has anything whatsoever to do with that.
9 There was very little evidence -- although Mr. Bowler was 10 correct, there was a discussion about Camp Bondsteel, but 11 there's very little evidence as to what the plan could have 12 accomplished in connection with buying farmland and some 13 vague, unknown attack on Camp Bondsteel.

14 That's not what my client was convicted of. My client 15 was convicted of a conspiracy regarding a base in the United 16 States. And, again, purchasing farmland or being given the 17 money to maybe buy farmland -- we don't know if it was 18 accomplished, but supposedly to buy farmland, again, is not 19 tied to any kind of government function or any kind of 20 retaliation against government action.

21 THE COURT: What about Quantico?

22 MR. McAFEE: Well, Judge, Quantico is -- as you 23 know from our arguments to the jury, is a real sticking point 24 with us, because Daniel Boyd is the one who created the 25 Quantico issue, and then he gets on the stand and agreed with

1 me -- and I think he called it -- pardon me, these are his 2 words -- pure crap. That this alleged issue regarding 3 Quantico was Daniel Boyd's creation. And the only conversation 4 where we hear about Quantico, and it is chilling, but it's 5 from Daniel Boyd to Eddarkoui, the government informant. It 6 is not involving Hysen Sherifi. This was all a clip that was 7 cut off as Mr. Sherifi approached these two gentlemen.

8 We don't know what was said afterwards. But Daniel 9 Boyd went on some -- he says to go back and look at where he 10 grew up. The government says it was surveillance or for 11 scouting out the area to determine how to conduct this attack.
12 And then Daniel Boyd goes on this eight- or nine-minute story 13 about how to attack Marine Corps Base Quantico and residential 14 areas. And only by mentioning his name, my client's name, 15 does he get drawn into that.

16 And then the boys said, well, I saw them talking about 17 it, but I'm not sure what was said, because they weren't part 18 of the conversation.

19 I don't know if anybody is going to say this, but 20 Daniel Boyd's crazy. At least, he was at that point. I mean, 21 he was delusional and so much as admitted it on the stand.
22 And then absolutely flat out says there was no conspiracy 23 about this. We talked about military bases because I grew up 24 on a military base. He was near a military base. He wanted
25 to go on to Fort Bragg at one point. But there's nothing

1 further than that that would seem to indicate that Mr. Sherifi
2 took any kind of steps regarding Quantico at all.

3 He didn't go on Google Earth to look at maps. He 4 didn't go and pinpoint where the residential areas were. He 5 didn't sit there and think about how am I going to have people 6 come down from the hills overnight, and all that stuff that 7 Daniel Boyd talked about. That had nothing whatsoever to do 8 with Mr. Sherifi.

9 So, again, I don't think this enhancement can be 10 applied unless we show some connection between this defendant 11 and his actions and the government conduct or retaliation
12 against government conduct.

13 THE COURT: All right. What's the position of the 14 government as to the reference to government in this 15 provision?

16 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, the American military is 17 an extension of the United States Government, and pointedly, 18 as to this factual scenario and the issues presented here, 19 it's the arm by which we have fought radical Islam all over 20 the globe. Camp Bondsteel is a good example of that. Fort 21 Bragg is the basis of many troops that are engaged both in 22 Iraq and in Afghanistan. That's well-known. Fighting is the 23 great Satan, the United States, is one of the precepts of 24 radical Islamism. The defendant is steeped in radical Islam.

25 In addition to that, we have his mention of Fort Bragg

1 and Washington, D.C., the seat of the government, in addition.

2 I don't -- I think it's so integral, it's perhaps hard
3 to recognize. But this -- it's so integral to radical Islam.
4 But, in addition to that, we have his specific mention of all 5 these military targets, which have no other reason or impact 6 to him except that they represent the base of strength that 7 America uses to project strength in fighting radical Islam, 8 which is his sworn moral obligation, in his own twisted mind, 9 that he wants to lash out against any way necessary.

10 THE COURT: How do you view his attempts to 11 corrupt Melvin Weeks, a reservist, discharging, you know, 12 duties in the military in Kosovo? Do you view that as an 13 example of influencing the conduct of the government?

14 MR. BOWLER: Yes. I think it certainly includes 15 that. It's an age-old tactic, if you can, to demoralize the 16 soldiers that were opposing you and to get them to switch 17 sides or to turn on their own country, if you can. It's 18 certainly that.

19 And I think it's probably also true that -- well, I 20 know it's true that radical Islam would first like to convert 21 all of us to their ideology, to save them the fight. Absent 22 that, the option is to kill them. Offer them salvation in 23 their mind, and if they refuse it, kill them.

24 But the fact that weeks is an active-duty soldier who 25 he's trying to subvert is a concrete way to undermine Camp

1 Bondsteel. Weeks has access to Camp Bondsteel, and he knows 2 that. He sees him in uniform. He knows exactly where he came 3 from. Weeks appears in uniform when he goes to the local 4 mosque. And that's how he happens to make contact with this 5 individual, because he seeks him out.

6 I think the Court does -- that's an excellent point.
7 It's a very concrete way of showing that he's trying to get 8 access to attack an official arm of the United States. But 9 there are a number others in the evidence of this case.

10 THE COURT: I remember, with respect to Mr. Weeks' 11 testimony, that he indicated he had established very positive 12 relations with members of the Kosovan community who shared his 13 faith during his visits to the mosque, and then, when he began 14 to associate with Mr. Sherifi, those individuals shunned him.

15 Is there anything else that you want to say?

16 MR. BOWLER: May I have one moment? I'm sorry, 17 your Honor.

18 (Pause.)

19 I believe the case law is fairly clear that in the term 20 of terms of that enhancement, when it says government, it 21 dozen not only mean the legislative branch, it means all the 22 branches that would be part -- the projection of American 23 authority in government, including the military.

24 THE COURT: I don't think it means the Kosovan 25 government, do you?

1 MR. BOWLER: I think it actually does include -- I 2 was reading Hammoud last night -- it can include essentially 3 any established legitimate government. And in some of the 4 other cases they cite that fact, the effort was to desire to 5 overthrow the Pakistani government, other governments, even 6 Arab governments which had fallen into monafiq status in their 7 minds.

8 THE COURT: Do you agree, Mr. McAfee, with that 9 interpretation?

10 MR. McAFEE: Judge, I don't think the reach of 11 United States law could outlaw conduct that would occur wholly 12 within another nation, where defendant's intent has nothing 13 whatsoever to do with United States Government but with some 14 other foreign and sovereign power.

15 I'm trying to recall Hammoud myself. It's been quite a 16 while since I've read it. I have no idea whether that stands 17 for that proposition, so I can't --

18 THE COURT: Well, I don't think I need to decide 19 that in this case. I think there's more than enough of record 20 to permit the Court to find by clear and convincing evidence 21 that this enhancement is properly accorded here. Its purpose 22 is to punish defendants more harshly when their wrongs served 23 an end more terrible than other crimes, and undermining the 24 military, as was the goal of this defendant, and supporting 25 jihadists against whom the military was engaged, and 1 developing a platform for future campaigns.

2 All of this compels the Court to conclude that this 3 defendant did have the motive and did exercise the intent to 4 influence or affect the conduct of government by intimidation
5 or coercion.

6 So, I do agree with you, Mr. McAfee, you know, much -- 7 or certain aspects of the government's argument doesn't fall 8 within that province, but there are clear markers and 9 indicators in this case that your client needs to be -- is one 10 of those people to be punished more harshly because his wrongs 11 served an end more terrible than other crimes.

12 The facts here speak abundantly to the motive of this 13 defendant to support terrorists and to act in this capacity.
14 So, I'm compelled to say he is a level VI, unless there's 15 something else.

16 Of course, I'm free to disregard the advice of the 17 guidelines and have a great deal of discretion.

18 I think you have very thoughtfully presented the 19 objections which were most needing to be heard in this case.
20 Is there anything else?

21 MR. McAFEE: Not by way of objection, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Okay. So, this is the advice of the 23 guidelines. And now the Court would turn to the factors set 24 forth in 18 United States Code, Section 3553, and turn more 25 particularly to your motion, where you would urge the Court

1 that a guideline sentence does not accomplish the purposes of 2 sentencing.

3 So, I've read what you've had to say and reflected on 4 it, and I am conversant to the extent that I've been educated 5 by the filings in this case about your client's background and 6 history. And, as I said, it is a very difficult one that he 7 has endured. And, as Mr. Bowler has said, this country has 8 given him much.

9 So, what is a sentence that's sufficient but not 10 greater than necessary?

11 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, my role right now is to 12 plead for my client's life. He's 27 years old, and he's 13 facing a life sentence.

14 Ordinarily, Judge, when I stand before you in 15 conspiracy cases, they tend to be, in this Court, given our 16 patterns of prosecution, they tend to be drug cases. And we 17 sit here and we argue over what drug weight is attributed to 18 this defendant based on transactions or whatever it may be.
19 And we have some sort of objective quantum against which to 20 measure a defendant's culpability.

21 We don't have that here. It is, in essence, in 22 terrorist cases, it is one drop is enough. It is so toxic 23 that either you're in or your out. There is no lesser role, 24 no greater role. There is, as I said, a very broad brush.
25 And that is, understandably -- that is the culmination of the 1 reaction of the United States in great part to 9/11. The laws

2 changed, the guidelines changed, sentencing procedures
3 changed, everything did. So, as this point we have someone 4 who is held up against generally what we consider one of the 5 worst crimes in the United States -- terrorism.

6 Mr. Sherifi encountered Daniel Boyd when he was about 7 24 years old, and this period of between 24 and 26 is what 8 we're really talking about. For the first 23 years of his 9 life, however, he was not this person, as you've seen from 10 every letter from his family members, who are all right here 11 in this row. From their testimony at trial, he was not this 12 person who was captured on these tapes and these audio 13 recordings and everything played for the jury. He was 14 completely different.

15 So, we don't know, if that person were sitting here 16 today, what he would say, what he would have done, how he 17 would have testified. What you have heard is someone who's 18 been through that what I would contend the radicalization 19 movement. I don't want to give it that level of organization, 20 but it's a -- as Daniel Boyd said, a corrupt ideology that 21 allows Muslim men to talk about jihad the way we'd talk about 22 coffee and doughnuts.

23 Mr. Sherifi -- and I don't want to belabor the point, 24 Judge, but he grew up in a war-torn country. His loyalties 25 were to his family. His loyalties are still to his family.

1 Not simply the family here in the United States, but his wife
2 and child in Kosovo. His extended family in Kosovo.

3 After the family was forced to leave that country, he 4 came here and took steps that no 15-year-old should. He 5 became, in essence, a surrogate parent. He taught English to 6 other kids. He went and got a job. At the same time, 7 finishing his education. This wasn't a kid who got to sleep
8 late and goof around on weekdays. The only escape he really 9 had, and you can tell from his biography, is playing soccer.

10 After school and after a little bit of time at Wake 11 Tech, Judge, is when Mr. Sherifi began to think there's 12 something more than this Western life for me, and that's when 13 he began this journey within himself and this journey across 14 the globe, to go back to Kosovo, which is the environment 15 where he grew up. It's an environment that's -- Albanians, I 16 think, are some 95% Muslim, Albanians within Kosovo. And he's 17 more accepted. And it's more comfortable for him.

18 The problem is in that environment it is also more 19 comfortable to talk about things that here in this country, 20 following 9/11, we don't talk about. Or, if we do, we talk 21 about them in gravely serious terms.

22 Something happened during that time frame between this 23 journey to go back to what he considered a better life, a 24 simpler life, perhaps a more productive life there in Kosovo.
25 That combined with the interaction with Daniel Boyd and the --

1 well, the corrupt ideology of Daniel Boyd. The craziness.
2 The violence. Something happened in there that changed that 3 young man into someone to be feared.

4 A life sentence, your Honor, is going to say that's bad
5 enough. That's all it takes. Two years out of a 26-year life 6 can throw away the first 24.

7 I would contend to you that a life sentence for a man
8 who's 27 years old is incomprehensible. We measure our lives, 9 we all do, by milestones within them. College takes four 10 years. I've been married almost 12 years. Things like that.
11 We measure it in chunks of our life. There's nothing in my 12 life that can compare to saying -- especially when I was 27
13 years old -- to life, 40 years, 30 years, 30 years and a 14 month, which would be the absolute minimum sentence this Court 15 can impose. There's simply no milestone or measurement 16 against, because he simply hasn't been alive that long.

17 The only thing I can offer, Judge, is what I put in the 18 sentencing memorandum, that a life sentence for Mr. Sherifi 19 would offer no hope whatsoever. There is no light at the end 20 of the tunnel. It is a sentence to die in prison.

21 If we don't have hope, we don't have a reason to go 22 forward. We don't have a reason to change. We don't have a 23 reason to, as Mr. Bowler said, repent. Why would we? Nothing 24 will ever change.

25 I haven't given you any suggested sentence, your Honor.

1 I know the Court's discretion is from zero to life. It's the 2 biggest range we have. I'm simply asking for something less 3 than life.

4 THE COURT: Well, I have no discretion --

5 MR. McAFEE: As to the 30 years.

6 THE COURT: Right.

7 MR. McAFEE: I understand.

8 THE COURT: But on the others, Count 1, Count 2
9 and 11, I do. And, obviously, I have discretion with respect 10 to the advice of the guidelines. But with the mandatory 11 minimum of not less than five years on Count 4 and not less 12 than 25 years on Count 8, Congress has given the Court no 13 discretion.

14 MR. McAFEE: And I agree, Judge. And I don't mean 15 to suggest that. As I said, if the Court were to simply say, 16 okay, I'm going to give him one month at the absolute minimum 17 on all the conspiracies, he still has to pull 31 years, five 18 years longer than he's been alive.

19 THE COURT: Is there anything further you want the 20 Court to consider before I invite Mr. Sherifi to say 21 something?

22 MR. McAFEE: Judge, I know you've reviewed our 23 letters, 106 of those, and I know you've reviewed our 24 sentencing memorandum which contains the remainder of our 25 argument, and that is all.

1 THE COURT: I have reviewed that, yes, and the 2 Court has received an extensive array of letters from family 3 and friends and associates.

4 Mr. Sherifi, is there anything you'd like to say?

5 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Yes, ma'am. May I?

6 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

7 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Thank you for letting me
8 speak, your Honor. I'd like to start by saying that I'm not a 9 terrorist, I was not a terrorist. And I came to trial through 10 my innocence. That is my right. And I came to trial so the 11 truth is known, your Honor. It is sad and unfair that the 12 jury was very unattentive, and two of them were sleeping, 13 because I don't think you can make a judgment while sleeping.
14 You know, that was very unfair.

15 But, like I say, I don't count the verdict. I was 16 found guilty, so I'm still -- but I still believe that I'm 17 innocent.

18 As everyone testified, there wasn't no conspiracy and 19 I'm charged with conspiracy. I'm not charged with extreme 20 ideology. If I was charged with that, then I'd understand.
21 But I'm charged with conspiracy.

22 All the evidence that was presented, your Honor, it was 23 all about Islam, it was all about belief. Various books, 24 they're hundreds of years old, that clearly shows not only to 25 me, but the people I've spoke to, it's all about ideology.

1 Kohlmann is not an expert on conspiracy. I think he 2 clearly testified he's obsessed with radicals and their 3 ideology. And to top it off, as they say, put the icing on 4 the cake over here, as Kohlmann's statement having the same 5 ideology means conspiring. So, that clearly shows that I'm 6 being prosecuted for ideology, not for conspiracy.

7 Especially the PSR report, especially about my belief 8 about jihad, especially about -- I have some transcripts, your 9 Honor, if I may --

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: To dispute Weeks' statements 12 about my ideology is clear. I will show it to you.

13 May I send it to her, or --

14 THE COURT: Would you like to bring it, 15 Mr. McAfee, up here, or do you want to read from it, 16 Mr. Sherifi?

17 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Well, I can do it either way.

18 MR. McAFEE: Your Honor, several of these are 19 transcripts that were prepared, not necessarily played at 20 trial, and one of them is disk 146. It's an additional 21 edition that I proposed, but we ended up not using this, but 22 we provided it to the government.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: So, in his conversation with 25 him I'm telling him, jihad, you know, is striving. It's not

1 fighting. Okay. And then he agrees, yes, and then later on,
2 as I'm about the leave, about a few seconds, I say, thank you 3 for teaching me what you teach me today.

4 But he said that I taught him that that means fighting, 5 which is a complete lie. And they stand by that. When they 6 stand upon the banner of justice, obviously lying in front of 7 everybody, supporting their informant that yes, I taught him 8 that jihad means fighting, killing, he even went so far as to 9 saying innocent children. But clearly here I'm telling him 10 it's not fighting, it's striving.

11 It's ridiculous that I would say that, because jihad 12 means striving.

13 And another one of their informants, which is Abdullah
14 Eddarkoui -- this is -- it's disk 162 -- clearly, he's asking 15 me, he brought up the conversation, asking me, what do you 16 think jihad is? And I said jihad means when we strive for 17 something. Or another statement I say is obeying Allah, 18 obeying what Allah orders us to do, following the religion.

19 So, it's clear, your Honor, that I don't have that 20 extreme ideology that jihad means killing, and all that stuff.

21 Boyd clearly stated in his debriefings that when I came 22 back I stood up to him, and I was correcting him, because he's 23 not my father. We don't have the same belief. So, even if 24 you go by having the same ideology as conspiring, I don't have 25 the same ideology as Boyd. It is clear.

1 And, your Honor, to my job that they mentioned and 2 brought up, how -- what kind of terrorist would go around -- 3 this was my second job, I was working two jobs -- go around 4 delivering blood. I was, your Honor, sort of on a 911
5 emergency, I was on call. I would deliver blood from hospital 6 to hospital. What kind of terrorist would deliver blood to 7 save American citizens? And I even went to Fort Bragg, which 8 was military servicemen, and delivered blood there.

9 A recording, which they did not provide, but they 10 claimed that they provided everything, and many other 11 recordings, your Honor, which would prove my innocence to the 12 ideology, not just to conspiracy.

13 When I sent Mr. McAfee to ask for these recordings, 14 they said we're not going to give them to you. Especially me 15 coming to America. I had made it clear that I did not want to 16 come back to America. I was comfortable where I was. Your 17 Honor, I was born there, I was raised there. All my 18 experiences and memories are from there. They set me up.
19 They entrapped me to come back to this country, but they did 20 not give those chats. Why? Because they would prove that I 21 had no intention of coming back here, forget about harming 22 anybody.

23 And I have the belief, as we said in Islam, and the 24 Prophet Mohammad said, your Honor, best jihad is awarding 25 justice to an oppressive ruler.

1 So, I proudly stand over here and tell oppressive 2 tyrants that I'm not a terrorist, and they are the ones who 3 are oppressing and not -- not following their own laws, which, 4 according to amendment, Article 19, your Honor, it clearly 5 says that everyone shall have the right to hold opinions 6 without interfering -- without interference -- everyone shall 7 will have the right to freedom of expression, the right to 8 include freedom to seek, receive and impart information, ideas 9 of all kinds, (inaudible) in writings or in print, a form of 10 art, or to any other medium of his choice.

11 And, your Honor, I would just like to mention a few 12 cases here, real quick.

13 A man who killed 270 people -- that's a village in my 14 country -- in the Lockerbie bombing, gets 30 years and gets 15 released after eight.

16 Another man bombs and shoots 77 people to death, and 17 he's declared by the prosecutors at the time of the attacks 18 that he was clinically insane.

19 Another man walks into a building in May -- and these 20 are recent -- none of these people are terrorists. And, your 21 Honor, just right here in North Carolina, travels on a plane 22 with C-4 explosives, and is only facing ten years.

23 Your Honor, I'd also like -- we'll keep in mind that 24 Zak Boyd was charged, save one, with the same -- the same 25 charges as me. And, according to Rule 3553, which I'm sure

1 you're familiar with it, but one thing I would like to point 2 out there is rehabilitation, which is to provide the defendant 3 with needed educational or vocational training, or other 4 correctional treatment. I don't think prison has that. Not 5 in this country, I'm not seeing it. If they have it, I'll 6 gladly go and I know I will pass it, because I don't have a 7 radical ideology.

8 And also, your Honor, I want to mention to you Rule 9 3582, which is imposition of a sentence of imprisonment. And 10 it says that the Court, in determining whether to impose a 11 term of imprisonment, and if a term is imposed, shall consider 12 3553, recognizing that imprisonment is not an appropriate 13 means of promoting correction or rehabilitation.

14 We all want to better ourselves, your Honor, and 15 there's ways to do it. But punishment -- and this is all 16 because of ideology -- it is not -- it is clear, your Honor, 17 it is very clear and obvious that it's all about ideology.

18 They never asked none of the informants, none of the 19 ones who pleaded guilty whether they conspired with me. Why 20 didn't they ask? Because there was no conspiracy, your Honor.
21 I never meant -- I did say kill kuffar, yes, but I meant that 22 for the people that have oppressed me.

23 I've seen this similar thing. The reason why we were 24 oppressed and terrorized and killed is because of our 25 religion, so I'm kind of seeing the same thing going on over

1 here, which is very unjust, your Honor. Very unjust.

2 So, I'm hoping that -- just one second, your Honor.

3 (Pause.)

4 The least justice, your Honor, the least justice that 5 this Court can give me is release me, give me time served so I 6 can go back home to my country. I don't have no intention of 7 coming back over here. I just wanted to be with my family, 8 with my people.

9 We've been through wars. I had -- I had almost opened 10 up a coffee shop before they set me up coming back over here.
11 I was getting ready to open up a library, teaching people 12 English on top of that.

13 My uncle just started a business. My family's been 14 scammed out of $35,000 -- it's not 3500, it's 35,000, your 15 Honor. My dad's going through cancer. They won't tell me 16 what it is, but it's cancer. And, really, my family needs me 17 more than I need them, but they need me.

18 So, like I said, your Honor, it's clear in the 19 recording that I said jihad means striving, and the whole PSR 20 report is about my belief is violent jihad, and this means 21 killing. And they know. They've seen this, your Honor.

22 So, that's all I ask. That's all I've got, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Thank you.

24 DEFENDANT SHERIFI: Thank you for the opportunity.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

1 MR. BOWLER: Your Honor, in the midst of his own 2 allocution he comes very close to saying, by any definition of 3 jihad, fighting against these unjust tyrants, pointing at the 4 government's table, would be just. I don't think he 5 articulated that exactly, but that seemed to be where he was 6 going when he caught himself and stopped.

7 He brings up the witness Weeks. One of Weeks'
8 responses, during cross-examination from Mr. Sherifi's 9 counsel, was, yes, I said those things that are captured on 10 the tape. I was trying to imitate the monster that he was 11 trying to make me into, referring to Sherifi.

12 What kind of terrorist would deliver blood? The kind 13 of terrorist who, (a) needs money, and (b), wants to 14 infiltrate and scout out potential targets, which is what he 15 comes back and talks about among the group.

16 He doesn't ask government witnesses did you conspire 17 with so-and-so, because it's probably inadmissible testimony.
18 It's not the -- it's the evidence that controls whether a 19 conspiracy existed, not some particular witness' view of 20 whether a legal standard has been met.

21 They entrapped me. That brings to my mind, at least, 22 his own statement that he recently submitted to the Court. He 23 shows up at Broughton High School, and the Broughton High 24 School varsity coach sees him playing soccer and invites him 25 immediately onto the varsity team. He doesn't like that

1 because he has to work too hard, so he voluntarily goes -- 2 this is his account -- to the JV team and is a star there.

3 No one entrapped him. America offered him a whole new 4 clean life.

5 The government can't explain why he so fell in love 6 with the barbarism that is that aspect of violent jihad, of 7 the most radical element of Islam, but he did. And the hate 8 has become all-consuming with him. He gave us a window of 9 that, I think, just minutes ago.

10 It is a tragic and sad thing that, at age 27, he's in 11 the position he's in. But the more he talks, the clearer I 12 think it is as to how the law ought to be applied in his 13 particular case.

14 The government asks that he receive the maximum 15 sentence on each and every count that's outstanding at this 16 point. I think the only option at this stage is to protect 17 society from him for as long as we possibly can. However 18 draconian that might sound, what he sought to do to other 19 American citizens, and anyone else who got in his way of 20 effecting radical shari'ah law and the effect of radical Islam 21 is more hideous than him sitting in a jail cell by far.

22 We ask that he receive the maximum on every count.

23 THE COURT: Have I heard the defendant fully,
24 Mr. McAfee?

25 MR. McAFEE: Yes, your Honor.

1 THE COURT: All right.

2 (Pause.)

3 Okay, I'm ready to sentence the defendant.

4 I find the basis of the findings in the presentence 5 report to be credible and reliable, and the Court adopts those 6 as the Court's own.

7 I've considered the advice of the guidelines generally 8 and specifically in this case, and those factors made 9 reference to several times. The need, after considering the 10 nature of the offense and the history and characteristics of 11 the defendant, to fashion a judgment that promotes respect for 12 the law, that discourages this type of conduct, that protects 13 the public, and provides any needed treatment or care. And 14 there are opportunities for that in the Federal Bureau of 15 Prisons.

16 Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, it's the 17 Court's determination that the defendant be sentenced on the 18 crime charged and convicted of in Count 1 to a term of 19 imprisonment of 180 months.

20 I sentence the defendant on Counts 2 and 11 to a term 21 of imprisonment of 180 months, all to be served concurrently.

22 The defendant is sentenced to a term of 60 months on 23 Count 4, consecutive to the term on the other counts, and 300 24 months on Count 8, consecutive to any other term of 25 imprisonment, producing a total term of imprisonment of 540

1 months in this case.

2 When the defendant is released from prison, he'll be 3 supervised for five years. This term consists of a term of 4 three years on Count 1 and five years on the other counts, all 5 the terms to run together.

6 Within three days of getting out of prison, you'll 7 report to your probation officer. If you break any law, 8 possess a weapon or drugs illegally, you'll be in violation of 9 the Court's judgment. There are some other standard 10 conditions and some special ones.

11 First and foremost, when you complete your term of 12 imprisonment, you'll be surrendered to an immigration official 13 and considered for deportation. And if you're ordered 14 deported, you will stay out of this country.

15 You will consent to warrantless searches and cooperate 16 in the collection of DNA.

17 You will submit a urinalysis test within 15 days of 18 getting out of prison and two tests thereafter.

19 There are five felony offenses at issue, and you'll pay 20 a $500 special assessment.

21 I have considered very carefully the advice of the 22 guidelines, and with respect to Counts 2 and 11 I have granted 23 the motion for a variance and deported from a term of life to 24 a term of 180 months, to create a total term of 540 months, 25 which the Bureau of prisons does consider a life sentence.

1 The difference here is that there's a prospect that you might 2 get out.

3 You'll get credit for your good behavior while in 4 prison, and that can take close to two months a year off your 5 sentence yourself. So, there's a small window there when you 6 are released for you to be able to live a lawful, law-abiding 7 life. And your age then will ameliorate many of the Court's 8 concerns concerning the likelihood of further crime.

9 But it's only a sentence of 540 months that the Court 10 can fashion that's going to protect the public, promote 11 respect for the law, and discourage this type of conduct, 12 which is about far more than what you were thinking about what 13 you were doing and what you stood ready to do.

14 Mr. McAfee, before I impose this finally, are there any 15 matters I haven't considered that you would wish the Court to 16 note?

17 MR. McAFEE: No, your Honor. I don't know if the 18 Court's willing to make a recommendation as to Mr. Sherifi, 19 but given his father's condition I would ask that you 20 recommend Butner. I don't think his classification would 21 allow it, but I would ask that you make the recommendation.

22 THE COURT: I'll recommend Butner. I'll also 23 recommend mental health treatment while in the Bureau of 24 Prisons, and further vocational training and education.

25 Okay, is there consternation on the government's side?

1 Are there any matters you want to bring to my attention?

2 MR. BOWLER: No, thank you, your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Okay. And from the probation officer?

4 PROBATION OFFICER WASCO: No, thank you.

5 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Sherifi, this is the 6 Court's sentence in this case. You can appeal if you believe 7 there's something very wrong with your conviction or with this 8 sentence, if you think it goes against law. You have the 9 right to appeal, but you've got to exercise those rights 10 quickly. You've got 14 days from the day the judgment goes on 11 the docket.

12 If you can't afford the cost of an appeal, you can
13 apply for permission to appeal for free. And, if you request, 14 Ms. Rudd will prepare the appeal paperwork for you.

15 Does your client have any questions about the judgment
16 or about his appeal rights?

17 (Pause.)

18 MR. McAFEE: Yes, your Honor. He's instructed me 19 to file a notice of appeal at the appropriate time, but he has 20 no other questions.

21 THE COURT: Okay. That instruction is noted on 22 the record and will be memorialized in writing by Mr. McAfee.
23 Mr. McAfee, your service on behalf of your client has been 24 diligent and I compliment you on your discharge of your 25 duties.

1 And you will get credit for time served, Mr. Sherifi, 2 towards the sentence I've imposed today.

3 So, I put you back in the custody of the Marshals 4 Service and take up Mr. Yaghi's case.

5 MR. McAFEE: Thank you, your Honor.

6 (Defendant Sherifi withdrew from the courtroom.)

7 (Defendant Yaghi entered the courtroom.)

8 THE COURT: Mr. Ayers, the probation office has 9 prepared a report about Mr. Yaghi. Have you had enough time 10 to review it and prepare for sentencing today?

11 MR. AYERS: Yes, your Honor.

12 THE COURT: And Mr. Yaghi, likewise, I want to 13 make sure that you've read that report. Have you had enough 14 time to do that?

15 DEFENDANT YAGHI: Yes, ma'am.

16 THE COURT: Are you ready for sentencing today?

17 DEFENDANT YAGHI: Yes, ma'am.

18 THE COURT: I want to give you an outline of how 19 the hearing is going to proceed. You can go ahead and be 20 seated.

21 I want to explain to you the process, and I think it
22 will be helpful to your understanding. The Court must fashion 23 a sentence that's sufficient, but not greater than necessary, 24 to accomplish the statutory goals of sentencing as directed by 25 Congress.

1 The law requires that I begin my sentencing decision by 2 correctly calculating your advisory guideline sentence. The 3 guidelines have been made advisory by the Supreme Court. But 4 the sentencing guidelines are a tool that are implemented by 5 Congress to suggest an appropriate sentence based primarily on 6 the severity of the defendant's criminal conduct to the extent 7 of his or her previous criminal history.

8 I may accept any undisputed portion of the report, and 9 there are many parts of this report that are disputed, I 10 recognize, as a finding of fact in establishing a range. And 11 I am required to consider objections and resolve them as they 12 may bear on the guideline range.

13 And the burden is on the shoulders of the government to 14 prove facts underlying any enhancement, as the burden is on 15 the shoulders of the defendant to show that any downward 16 adjustment is warranted.

17 I've said, and it's true, the sentencing guidelines are 18 advisory. I've also explained I have a great deal of 19 discretion in imposing a sentence above or below the advisory 20 guideline range. I have no discretion concerning any 21 mandatory minimum that Congress may have established.

22 If I believe it's appropriate to go above or below the 23 guideline range, that must be based on a determination that a 24 sentence in that range is necessary to accomplish the goals of 25 sentencing.

1 I need not even assume that the guideline range is 2 reasonable, however.

3 Once I've finished calculating the guideline range, I 4 must allow both sides the opportunity to argue for whatever 5 sentence is felt appropriate. And, under 18 United States
6 Code, Section 3553, the Court bases its sentencing decision 7 on the nature, circumstances and seriousness of the offense or 8 offenses at issue -- and these are certainly very serious 9 ones -- and the history and characteristics of the defendant, 10 as well as the need to promote respect for the law, to 11 discourage this type of conduct, to protect the public, and to 12 provide any needed treatment for the defendant.

13 And certainly, before I fashion the sentence, I will 14 address you personally, and you'll have the opportunity to 15 speak or to present any mitigating information.

16 And then, finally, the Court will fashion a sentence 17 based on an individualized assessment of those factors I've 18 referred to and the information received, and the Court will 19 explain why it chose a particular sentence.

20 Mr. Ayers, does your client have any questions about 21 the processes that are required to be followed?

22 MR. AYERS: No, your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 Now, I do have before the Court your motion for 25 departure or variance. I have, as noted in other cases, and

1 this case as well, received letters of support from persons 2 who wish to be heard in this matter. I have the benefit of 3 this detailed presentence report, and also the knowledge 4 accruing from presiding over the trial.

5 I guess, unless Mr. Ayers, you would like to suggest on 6 behalf of Mr. Yaghi a different order, we might just start at 7 the beginning.

8 MR. AYERS: That's fine, your Honor.

9 THE COURT: The beginning is the objection to the 10 statement that the offense conduct concluded at time of 11 arrest. The evidence establishes the defendant would argue 12 that he had no contact with Daniel Boyd after 2007 as it 13 relates to the conspiracy.

14 I've read the probation officer's response. Would you 15 like to be heard further?

16 MR. AYERS: Your Honor, I would as to that point.
17 Obviously, there was a trial in this case. We disagree with 18 the findings, and the Court is aware of that. But the 2007
19 and '8 time period is important with regard to Mr. Yaghi.

20 I'm aware of the Court's findings or inclinations as it 21 relates to Jude Mohammad and the visit by Mr. Boyd later on in 22 2009, but I think it's important for everybody to understand, 23 and I think the Court knows, but I still feel that I need to 24 reiterate it, these two trips were in 2006 and '7, and after 25 that, my client basically parted ways with Mr. Boyd. Mr. Boyd

1 confirms that. I believe that the evidence confirms that.

2 There is the information related to Mr. Mohammad. I 3 believe that Mr. Mohammad came by Blackstone Market with my 4 client one time in 2008. I believe his mother, actually, 5 introduced him to Mr. Boyd as far as Mr. Mohammad.

6 The evidence in the case that I heard from the bar did 7 not establish that anything related to this conspiracy 8 materialized at that Blackstone Market that day.

9 The second aspect of his conduct would continue to be 10 when Mr. Boyd came to see my client in jail. Well, my client 11 didn't set that meeting up. Mr. Boyd came to jail with my 12 client's mother and had discussions with him, and that's when 13 my client stated that I'm not a snitch. I don't think that's 14 an element of the offense.

15 My client had no control over that meeting. He didn't 16 conceal anything or agree to conceal anything; he simply said 17 I'm not a snitch, and that's it.

18 He did cooperate with the government. They met with 19 him or tried to meet with him on a number of occasions. And 20 that's true, he did not meet with them, and he did not talk 21 about anybody else, period.

22 But that's our opinion on that. I think it's 23 important, because I think the evidence in the case, after 24 2007, relate more to 2007 and the trip to Jordan.

25 Mr. Boyd went off the reservation and was mentally

1 ill. I don't know if the Court will conclude that as a matter
2 of law, but I think factually he left the reservation after 3 his son died. And he became worse and worse and worse, and 4 more and more hostile and aggressive, and accumulated his 5 weapons and firearms. And Yaghi wasn't around him during that 6 time period. The evidence doesn't show that he was around him 7 during that time period.

8 And Yaghi didn't participate in the Caswell County 9 shootings, the wiretaps from that extended period of time also 10 reflected he was not there, your Honor.

11 So, I know you've heard the evidence, your Honor, so 12 those were the important parts about the facts that I did want 13 to reiterate, because I think it shows what contact we assume 14 was criminal on behalf of Mr. Yaghi that basically ceased in 15 2007 and 2008 while Mr. Boyd was going in the exact opposite 16 direction.

17 And you can make the findings, the government can make 18 their arguments, but I do think that at the very least you 19 should take that into account in formulating the sentencing at 20 the appropriate time.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Who will be speaking for the 22 government? Mr. Kellhofer?

23 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor, I am.

24 THE COURT: All right.

25 MR. KELLHOFER: I believe that the probation

1 officer's response is appropriate. We would continue to 2 contend that an agreement not to snitch is an agreement to 3 continue to maintain the discrete nature of the very 4 conspiracy at issue, and the one that Mr. Daniel Boyd was 5 concerned about. It was the entire purpose for the meeting.
6 So we would continue to assert that the conspiracy continued 7 up until the point of arrest.

8 THE COURT: Okay. I'm compelled to overrule that 9 objection for reasons announced earlier and I'll summarize 10 now. I would also make mention of defendant's continued 11 training and preparedness as a part of the conspiracy. The 12 defendant engaged in some target-shooting and practice with 13 weaponry. Moreover, Daniel Boyd's visit to the jail came six 14 months after Jude Mohammad left the country, or approximately 15 six months. And your client moved into his apartment.

16 And I do recall Ms. Mohammad having some preliminary 17 contact with Mr. Boyd and her son at the market, but I think 18 the cachet or credibility that Jude Mohammad seems to enjoy 19 very quickly, your client was intent on accruing some of that 20 to himself by facilitating a more extended introduction at the 21 market.

22 I would also note that his association with Mr. Hassan, 23 who was well aware of the federal government's continued 24 interest, and reasonably, one might infer, had shared that 25 with your client. I think there was an understood need to 1 keep secret and to keep breathing life in the conspiracy, and 2 that was just hammered home for your client when Mr. Boyd came 3 to the jail.

4 There were other contacts that suggest promoting the 5 goals of the conspiracy through mainstream media, using it as 6 a tool of propaganda and to proselytize others. So, I find no 7 fault with the probation officer's determination that it
8 wasn't until Mr. Yaghi was arrested that the offense conduct 9 was concluded.

10 I understand he doesn't know Mr. Asllani. I don't 11 believe we've heard any evidence that he does. I don't think 12 that is informing the advice of the guidelines whatsoever.
13 But your objection is noted as to paragraph 15. And I have no 14 reason to dispute that you can't confirm whether that's a 15 related case or not.

16 The matter of your client's ability to pay a fine, I'll 17 reflect on that down the road. Certainly, he's not a wealthy 18 man. He's not got a high school degree. He's had a very 19 difficult childhood, and has not been very productive in his 20 young adulthood. And so, I have no reason to think he has 21 assets secreted somewhere.

22 I have neglected to say that I am familiar with his 23 background and history. The probation officer has given the 24 Court some detailed information. You have given the Court 25 information. I have received letters, including from the 1 defendant's mother and others. All have been reviewed.

2 I understand that the defendant has had a very 3 difficult relationship with his father, been disavowed, in 4 essence, or disclaimed by him, and has watched his father 5 inflict physical abuse, allegedly, on his mother. It's 6 another example of a defendant in this conspiracy having very 7 difficult family relationships, particularly as it relates to 8 the father, or lack thereof, in the case of Jude Mohammad.

9 In every single defendant in this case there is this 10 characteristic of a void in the family life and tensions, and 11 your client certainly demonstrates that in what I have read 12 here.

13 I'm familiar, as I said, with his lack of an education.
14 And I'm also familiar with his criminal contacts. He was -- 15 pleaded guilty to giving a police officer fictitious 16 information at the age of 16. He also pleaded guilty to the 17 felony crime of felonious restraint. This involved Mr. Hassan
18 and Kalled Shanab when, in December of 2008, they kidnapped 19 and restrained a student at North Carolina State University.
20 This defendant was originally charged with first-degree 21 kidnapping, but pleaded guilty to the lesser offense.

22 The companion charge of felonious robbery with a 23 dangerous weapon was, in fact, dismissed.

24 The defendant's supervision adjustment is reported as 25 poor because at the time he was on probation he committed the 1 instant offenses, and, therefore, resulted in his termination 2 of probation.

3 Now, I note these pending charges in Texas, which I 4 believe is where the father lives and runs a restaurant, 5 according to the probation office. So, at some point when 6 your client was down in Austin, Texas, warrants were issued 7 for his arrest where, on June 27th of 2006, Mr. Yaghi was 8 charged with felonious burglary of a building, felonious 9 criminal mischief, felonious engagement in organized criminal 10 activity and felonious possession of marijuana. He was 11 released on bond, and these warrants remain pending.

12 This defendant finds himself, at this young age of 23, 13 I believe, here in court as a midlevel criminal offender.
14 That is in the range of between I and VI. His history puts 15 him, with four points, in category III. If the enhancement 16 for terrorism applies, that's doubled, and he moves to a VI.

17 He's charged with other crimes that are all noted on 18 page 13. They don't influence the scoring. But he is in 19 regular contact with the criminal justice system from the age 20 of 16 going forward.

21 I've made mention of his family information. I'm aware 22 of his travel that is reflected in the objections on the 23 record and also in the presentence report, that he has 24 demonstrated mobility, without any assets, though his family 25 in Jordan, he left this country and traveled there in 2006.

1 He returned there in the company of Mr. Hassan when he 2 couldn't get into Israel. And the probation officer believes, 3 during that trip in 2007, he went for a brief -- or for a 4 brief moment in time, albeit a few hours, was in Israel, also 5 Germany, Jordan, Egypt, and the United Arab Emirates.

6 The advice of the guidelines, if this is correct, and,
7 obviously, the legal objections await the Court's decision 8 here, is that he should be sentenced to a maximum term of 180
9 months, which is the maximum on Count 1, where the guidelines 10 would advise life, but the punishment cannot be more than the 11 statutory maximum. However, your client faces life 12 imprisonment, up to life, on Count 2, and the probation office 13 believes the advice of the guidelines is life on Count 2.

14 His behavior can be supervised for up to five years
15 when he gets out of prison on Count 2 and three years on Count
16 1. The fine could be as much as a quarter-of-a-million 17 dollars, each count, though the guidelines suggest a range of 18 between 25,000 to 250,000.

19 Because there are two felony offenses, there's a $100 20 special assessment times two, or $200, which is due today as 21 an additional fine.

22 Now, this returns me back to the legal objections 23 beginning at the bottom of the addendum. And I think this 24 reiterates your complaints with the factual presentation.

25 I've heard these objections before on the phase of 1 Mr. Hassan's presentation. I certainly would tell you you can 2 argue all the inferences in favor of your client. But as far

3 as just blatant falsity, what would you point me to that I 4 need to take up and decide right now?

5 MR. AYERS: Judge, with regard to paragraph 71, 6 that's the 3A1.1(a) enhancement, three points, I believe that 7 would be the first one. We would object to the Court imposing 8 that enhancement.

9 We do not feel that there's been any victim identified 10 because of race, color, religion, national origin, gender or 11 sexual orientation.

12 Obviously, you've heard these arguments already this 13 morning. I would submit to the Court that Count 2 is a 14 conspiracy charge. Obviously, you can have a conspiracy 15 without having identified any victims. To the extent that 16 charge was found by the jury, I would argue to the Court that 17 there were no identifiable victims.

18 The conspiracy progressed after my client pulled 19 himself out of it, basically, in 2007 or 2008. Even later on, 20 I don't think any victims were actually identified or targets, 21 your Honor. I know at the time that my client met with 22 Mr. Boyd they had general discussions about what his 23 obligations were as it relates to his faith. There were 24 always other people around, and those discussions so 25 transpired to include Mr. Hassan and others, and testified to 1 their having been indicted.

2 And with regard to the shooting or target practice that 3 took place in late 2008, it's my impression that that wasn't 4 related to this conspiracy. Nobody was there but Mr. Yaghi.
5 So, the record, I don't think, would support a finding of 6 that.

7 I understand you've made findings to the contrary 8 earlier this morning, but I think, for purposes of the record, 9 I need to put that on the record.

10 THE COURT: I think you do.

11 Does the government want to offer a particularized 12 response concerning Mr. Yaghi as to the objection to 3A1.1(a)?

13 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor. I would continue 14 to ask that you consider the argument previously made during 15 Hassan's sentencing proceeding, although I do think all of 16 that information applies, and, in particular the very fact 17 that this entire crime, the evidence that was presented, the 18 argument, was all geared towards the fact that these 19 individuals had a specific purpose, and their purpose was 20 based off of a belief that required others to adhere to 21 radical Islam. And if you did not, then you were fair game.

22 That is the entire core or underlying basis for the 23 crimes that occurred. So, it's almost difficult to imagine 24 how anyone could conclude that the intended victims were not 25 based on religion.

1 Although I would point specifically to one of the 2 statements made explicitly by defendant Ziyad Yaghi in his 3 communications on his Facebook: "If you're a monafiq, I'm 4 going to kill you." I think that pretty well sums it up.

5 THE COURT: Well, the Court has to find this 6 enhancement proper and the necessary underpinnings beyond a 7 reasonable doubt.

8 Did you want to add something else?

9 MR. AYERS: Your Honor, I don't think that one's 10 beliefs, cultural upbringing or thoughts constitute a proper 11 basis to make that jump beyond a reasonable doubt or clear and 12 convincing, or any other standard, to find that my client 13 intentionally selected any victim or property and targeted it 14 because of race, color, religion and the other variables
15 there, your Honor.

16 Certainly things were said on Facebook. I acknowledge 17 that. That speech, one's religion is one's religion, and even 18 yesterday or the day before the Supreme Court acknowledged 19 that we still have that constitutional right and privilege in 20 this country.

21 And I've heard repeatedly the discussions about beliefs
22 in this case, and I don't believe that belief can constitute a 23 jump or a basis for the enhancement, your Honor. There's got 24 to be some action or activity beyond a basic conspiracy or 25 these enhancements across the board do not apply. And I think

1 the government's got to prove it to the Court's satisfaction.

2 I don't think it's fair for them to say I think he 3 discussed a belief, and ask the Court to walk a tightrope. I 4 think they have to introduce appropriate evidence for the 5 Court to make a finding, your Honor. And I find that that's 6 sorely lacking, your Honor, as it relates to Mr. Yaghi.

7 THE COURT: Do you want to be heard further?

8 MR. KELLHOFER: Again, only, your Honor, as I 9 previously stated, it's very difficult to not want to engage 10 in a back-and-forth and relitigate this case, because, 11 obviously, the government has a very strong view of what the 12 evidence presented.

13 I would again turn to the individual has been convicted 14 of a conspiracy; a conspiracy that has elements that the 15 defense has continually failed to appropriately appreciate and 16 acknowledge.

17 In a court of law in the United States of America, 12 18 citizens determined that this individual, more than a belief, 19 engaged in a conspiracy. That is what has occurred. The 20 conspiracy was based off of statements made by this individual 21 to include the one that I just stated. "If you're a munafiq, 22 I'm going to kill you." That was what the conspiracy charged.
23 That was the intent. That was the purpose of the conspiracy 24 as it existed.

25 The government feels very strongly that the evidence

1 that was heard throughout the trial. Your Honor was present 2 and, obviously, has a very clear recollection and grasp of all 3 of those factors.

4 THE COURT: The enhancement at issue provides that 5 if the Court at sentencing determines beyond a reasonable 6 doubt that the defendant intentionally selected any victim or 7 any property as the object of the offense of conviction 8 because of the actual or perceived race, color, religion, 9 national origin, ethnicity, gender, and some other factors, 10 the offense level should be increased by three. The advisory 11 notes inform the reference and suggests that it's meant to 12 apply to hate crimes. And it's a broader number of offenses 13 that are at issue beyond traditional hate crimes.

14 And in this case, given the orientation of the 15 propaganda, the defendant's orientation when he took to the 16 Internet and generated or proliferated terrorist ranting, that 17 he was conspiring to commit terrorist acts aimed at the kuffar 18 or non-Muslims. That is what's at issue here. Those who 19 didn't subscribe to his ideology very loosely cloaked in his 20 religious denomination, I believe, beyond a reasonable doubt, 21 that the enhancement's appropriate. And so, I will score that 22 as the probation officer did.

23 I don't find the next enhancement appropriate for the 24 reasons that I already articulated. I don't believe that 25 3A1.2 should be applied as against Mr. Yaghi. And so, unless

1 the government wants to be heard further as to that, I would 2 remove those three points. Though I note it's not going to 3 have a bearing on the guidelines.

4 Do you want to be heard further?

5 MR. KELLHOFER: No. We'll simply stand by the 6 argument previously presented, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 So then we move to, by my organization here,
9 Mr. Ayers -- and I welcome you to contribute to where you 10 think is the next appropriate place to go. I think we're at 11 3A1.4?

12 MR. AYERS: Correct, your Honor. And in 13 accordance with our objection to that, I think Count 2 14 qualifies as a predicate offense. But again, I think with 15 regard to the second prong, the requirement is that the 16 (inaudible), conduct by the government by intimidation or 17 coercion or to retaliate against government conduct. I think 18 the law, as I understand it, and as you said previously, 19 requires specific findings of proof by the government, your 20 Honor.

21 THE COURT: I'm adhering to the more critical 22 burden, that is, that the government prove this by clear and 23 convincing evidence, while there isn't a definite statement in 24 the Fourth Circuit. And the real issue here is subsection A 25 of 2332(b)(G)(5). And that is that the offense is calculated

1 to influence or affect the conduct of government by 2 intimidation or coercion or to retaliate against government 3 conduct.

4 And the Chandia decision reiterates that the process 5 that has to be applied is a careful, specific one, where the 6 Court considers the motive and intent of the defendant.

7 And, in this case, as counsel's pointed out, the 8 defendant was convicted of the crime of conspiring to murder, 9 kidnap, maim and injure people in foreign countries.

10 What else should the government wish to bring to my 11 attention in this case that bears on the findings that I have 12 got to make?

13 MR. KELLHOFER: Yes, your Honor. We would again
14 turn to the overarching conspiracy here, the entire purpose 15 for which it existed. Again, as I previously stated, although 16 I think it appropriate perhaps to restate again, as the 17 defendant wasn't present for that proceeding, although his 18 counsel certainly was present, the conspiracy existed with the 19 entire purpose, as was testified to by multiple witnesses, all 20 based off of a corrupt ideology. And that corrupt ideology 21 believed that the murder of non-Muslims was appropriate and, 22 in fact, obligatory. Moreover, the entire purpose of that 23 corrupt ideology was to institute a form of government known 24 as shari'ah law. That was the overarching purpose that 25 existed for this -- these conspiracies.

1 That existed in every instance. Daniel Boyd gave 2 multiple locations that he felt were all appropriate options.
3 All of those because they did not have Muslim control or there
4 were non-Muslims entering Muslim land. Those non-Muslims
5 being governments, i.e., the United States.

6 The entirety of the conspiracy was to, in fact,
7 influence and affect government conduct.

8 Again, you simply cannot have one without the other, as 9 was testified to and as was displayed throughout the multiple 10 testimonies given not only by individuals directly involved 11 and present for the discussions, but as was described and 12 defined by the expert witness for the government, 13 Mr. Kohlmann.

14 The fact is Shari'ah law, as defined by this corrupt 15 ideology, could not coexist with another government.

16 That's what I think to be the cornerstone.

17 However, turning to other specific pieces, again, there 18 was discussion in which Daniel Boyd specifically stated that, 19 when he had been talking about jihad, that meant fighting, and 20 that that included fighting against NATO forces. That was a 21 discussion at which this defendant was present. When he was 22 talking about what he meant during that period and what it 23 included, that's what it meant.

24 Some of the evidence that was utilized at trial 25 included multiple statements by the defendant to include

1 Facebook postings. One of them of particular note in which he 2 stated that he heard about the battle of Falluja was ferocious 3 and that those individuals were running out of ammo, but they 4 remained and fought and strapped themselves with explosives.
5 Those were the people that were going to heaven.

6 And he was talking about, as is common knowledge, 7 battles in Iraq and the battle of Falluja is well-recognized 8 to anyone, most likely in America. It made quite a bit of 9 news. He's talking about the battle in which American troops 10 were engaged.

11 The propaganda that is possessed, distributed,
12 encouraged, includes the Constants of Jihad, in which it 13 explicitly advocates fighting for religious beliefs. And 14 again, that goes back to the entire purpose here, which was to 15 set up shari'ah law.

16 Additionally, we think that the locations at which the 17 travel occurred are indicative, as well. The attempt to enter 18 Israel we think to be indicative of this entire conspiracy, as 19 again throughout the testimony we heard that the Likud in 20 Jerusalem was a major target and to get rid of the Jewish 21 population which was in control.

22 All of these pieces of evidence -- and, again, the 23 underlying conspiracy of all appeared to point towards the 24 points that were conducted for the purpose of influencing 25 government.

1 Thank you, your Honor.

2 MR. AYERS: Your Honor, I'll respond. I'll try to 3 keep it as brief as I can, but I don't believe that Facebook 4 postings, propaganda, traveling to Israel or Jordan, or 5 ideology of any type can satisfy those elements or 6 requirements. This is a showing that the government has to 7 make factually. It's not an argument.

8 The government's making an argument, just like in 9 closing. I think you ought to do this or I think the evidence 10 proved that. The simple fact is they've got to show the 11 evidence factually would satisfy those findings. And I don't 12 think that they've done that, your Honor.

13 I heard your rulings this morning. That's our 14 position. If you want me to argue about it more, I will. But 15 I don't think speech can cross that line or Facebook postings
16 can cross that line. And I don't like the Facebook postings 17 in this case. I can't erase them. But I don't think the 18 Court can make the jump to say these elements, on a terrorism 19 cross-reference, are satisfied by speech or religious beliefs.
20 It just shouldn't do that.

21 If someone came in here and said, Bob went to Jordan
22 and killed somebody, that's completely different. That person 23 who was killed was a U.S. intelligence officer, and that 24 person was planning the battle of Falluja.

25 That's different. We don't have that extreme jump in 1 this case. We don't have that. What we have is bantering and 2 talk and lyrics, which I don't like and nobody else does, and 3 no action on the other side. There's got to be something 4 shown that would show that there was an act to cause the 5 government to do something on the other side. That's just 6 lacking.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I think there's something 8 between the two. And I would agree with you that if it was 9 nothing more than Facebook, that this enhancement wouldn't be 10 proper and we probably wouldn't be exchanging statements 11 today. But this is a defendant who was given a send-off in 12 2006 with those in attendance considering him going off to 13 join the mujahidin in Jordan, who came back and allied himself 14 in some respects with Daniel Boyd, and received further advice 15 from him.

16 The first time he was over, Mr. Boyd directed him to a 17 particular mosque, as I recall, where this was a known 18 assembly point for people sharing this radical ideology.

19 Beyond the Facebook are the multiple pieces of 20 propaganda that your client had access to, viewed, and -- and 21 reasonably discussed.

22 You've also got his return in 2007, facilitated by 23 Daniel Boyd, with his understanding that he would be meeting 24 with him and they would be spending some time together.

25 Daniel Boyd understood that they were going to look for

1 a battlefield. And he testified to that. Based on the 2 conversation he had in the car on the way to the bookstore, 3 where your client showed the weapon -- and albeit, it was 4 identified as a pea-shooter -- this is a .22 caliber rifle -- 5 it was what Mr. Hassan and Mr. Yaghi had. And it was 6 certainly capable of doing harm. And they chose that 7 opportunity to show Mr. Boyd that they, too, had weaponry.

8 So, we're going beyond words to actions, and we've got 9 someone who has a demonstrated facility, very limited 10 resources, but he's going back over and he tries to go to 11 Israel. And these particular rants through the Facebook are 12 very anti-Jewish, references to doing violence towards others, 13 Jews and the kuffar.

14 So, I believe that your view is negligent of other 15 facts and findings that the Court would make to determine that 16 this enhancement is proper.

17 I still would have occasion to repeat that your client
18 told Mrs. Mohammad that her son, in or around October of 2008, 19 was where he had been the year before. And this is a 20 gentleman who stated to a college employee that he was going 21 to essentially commit suicide. It's my recollection Pakistan, 22 but it may have been Afghanistan. But I thought it was I'm 23 going to die in the mountains of Pakistan.

24 That was so stunning to the college administrator that 25 for one of the only two times, I believe, in her many years of 1 employment did she feel it necessary to provide a report to 2 the school about the mental and emotional health as she had 3 observed of a student.

4 So, while differing from other cases, I believe that 5 this is one that comes within the ambit of an enhancement. I 6 find by clear and convincing evidence that it is an offense 7 that is calculated to influence or affect the conduct of 8 government by intimidation or coercion, or to retaliate 9 against government conduct; and that your client has 10 demonstrated motive and intent based on these actions and 11 others.

12 So, have I decided -- is there anything else that bears 13 on the advice of the guidelines? Because you can return to 14 all this at the next stage of the sentencing hearing.

15 MR. AYERS: Well, your Honor, I've objected -- it 16 didn't make a whole lot of sense to me when I read it, but he 17 received two additional points for being on probation, and the 18 offense took place away -- I say he was out of the conspiracy.
19 So, if the Court finds he was still in the conspiracy, I don't 20 know that I can argue that. But I believe he was out of the 21 conspiracy.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Well, your objection is noted.
23 I believe the evidence supports that he was in. He continued
24 in 2008. He introduced Mr. Mohammad to Mr. Boyd. And I 25 believe Mr. Boyd corrected himself on the witness stand and 1 said he met Jude Mohammad through your client. That was 2008.

2 And then, as I said, your client was committed to 3 silence, and visited, in fact, by Daniel Boyd in 2009 because 4 of the concerns of Mr. Boyd that he would begin to talk about 5 the conspiracy. So, he was still protecting Mr. Boyd.

6 So, I think those two points are correct and your 7 client is in that Category III, moved to a VI by virtue of the 8 terrorist enhancement.

9 So the advice under the sentencing guidelines is as I
10 spoke, 180 months on Count 1 and life on Count 2.

11 Your client is a young man -- I would also recall 12 testimony about your client taking the microphone in the 13 mosque and saying insightful remarks advocating violent jihad, 14 and there was trial testimony that was very concerning, 15 understandably so, to members of the mosque, and that there 16 were people that he attempted to proselytize, who came within 17 his purview, who actively worked to disassociate themselves 18 from your client.

19 So, I think -- I think it incorrect to view all of this 20 just in terms of his relation with Mr. Boyd. I think your 21 client was a self-starter on his own and also preyed, to some 22 extent, on Mr. Hassan, or at least encouraged him.

23 There was right much testimony concerning him bringing 24 him to Mr. Boyd's house, introducing him to him, and wanting 25 to promote to Mr. Hassan his understanding of the ideology

1 that we talk about today as corrupt.

2 MR. AYERS: I'm assuming, for the record, I didn't 3 make -- I asked the Court to consider the minimum or minor 4 role. My recollection is that you did not allow that in 5 Hassan's case, so I won't argue that.

6 THE COURT: You can -- did you make that 7 objection?

8 MR. AYERS: I did, but I understand the Court's 9 position. I would like it to remain part of the record, 10 but --

11 THE COURT: Yes, it is noted on the record. And 12 for the reasons that I've stated, it would be appropriate for 13 me to overrule that.

14 Does the government want to be heard on these rulings?

15 MR. KELLHOFER: No, thank you, your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Okay. So, Mr. Ayers, what is a 17 sentence that's sufficient but not greater than necessary, 18 that gives due regard to 18 United States Code, 3553?

19 MR. AYERS: Your Honor, I filed a motion to 20 downward depart and vary. Obviously, part of my brief is in 21 three basic parts. The first is you have the authority, 22 obviously, to formulate a sentence as you see fit under the 23 statute now. The second part is the guidelines. The third 24 part would be asking you to depart downward or for a variance.

25 I think the departure grounds aren't exactly allowed.

1 I'll make them anyway. But I would actually argue in terms of 2 a variance.

3 I think that Yaghi is a young man. I think he was 4 targeted by Boyd. And I laid out in my brief my opinion of it
5 pretty strongly. And I think the testimony was that he had a 6 way of targeting youth. He went through these phases with 7 them. The testimony as I recall is that he didn't complete
8 that with Mr. Yaghi, and he did with other people. And I 9 believe Mr. Boyd's sons testified to that.

10 But I think a life sentence in the career offender
11 level of VI overstates the seriousness of the offense. And I 12 understand this is a terrorism case, but at the same time, the 13 charge that provides for the lifetime sentence, your Honor, 14 is -- overstates the offense. I say that in the context of I 15 don't believe targets were selected based on the evidence 16 presented, or that it ever got to that point.

17 Now, there are things that transpired after Yaghi was 18 not there. I understand the Court's findings, but I don't 19 give up that easy. I don't think he was around in Caswell 20 County. I don't think he had any part or parcel of these 21 conversations we're talking about. I think that conduct is 22 much more egregious than the conduct that my client supposedly 23 took part in and that the jury found.

24 I still say Mr. Boyd is a parent's worst nightmare.
25 His conduct concerns me. And I think he's mentally ill. And

1 I think he targeted people like Yaghi because of their youth, 2 because he knew that he didn't have a father to turn to. That 3 bothers me. Because I'm a father, and I don't like the idea
4 of having people targeting my children or my child. And 19
5 years old is a man and a child, too. I don't think you've 6 crossed that bridge where you have the answers to everything 7 when you're 19 years old. And Yaghi is only 23 years old 8 today. He's been in jail for two years.

9 I do think that Boyd targeted these people. If you 10 look, the ones he had the biggest impact on were his sons.
11 They were young men. Yaghi's the same situation. Mr. Hassan 12 is a college student. The guy was so bad and I say 13 incredible, because no adult would believe him that the only 14 people he surrounded himself with were young kids or 15 children. Even at the camp-outs --

16 THE COURT: Well, you had Mr. Eddarkoui --

17 MR. AYERS: He's a government agent, your Honor.

18 THE COURT: He didn't know that. He doesn't -- I 19 think your point is well-taken, but there were others, and 20 Mr. Subasic had some age on him.

21 MR. AYERS: I understand that, but I think that 22 they were well beyond where Mr. Yaghi was when Mr. Yaghi went 23 to Mr. Boyd. I think the testimony was -- and I think the 24 Court has to draw some conclusions, but there were broad-25 ranging discussions about the Muslim faith. It wasn't just 1 jihad all the way along.

2 I think that was Mr. Boyd's ultimate goal, and it
3 became more of a goal for him after he lost his son. And I 4 wouldn't wish that on anybody.

5 And, obviously, the Court's got to sentence him at some 6 point, but I think that he didn't deal with that well. That's 7 what I would take from his testimony. And he became more and 8 more radical.

9 But, at the same time, I understand what you say about 10 Jude Mohammad, and Boyd wanted to see my client in jail, which 11 my client had no control over. This is a time when my client 12 had less and less and less contact with Mr. Boyd. There were 13 wiretaps everywhere, and everything was recorded. And my 14 client's not around on that, your Honor.

15 So, he may not have had departure technically from 16 Mr. Boyd or the conspiracy, but he was not there all the time, 17 either, your Honor. And he didn't handle the guns in Caswell 18 County. He engaged in these conversations that --

19 THE COURT: But he did shoot at the cemetery.

20 MR. AYERS: I don't think there's one piece of 21 evidence in this case, your Honor, that ties that in with this 22 conspiracy. Not the individual that he shot with, not the 23 other individual who came that day to shoot that aren't 24 indicted that are Muslim, your Honor.

25 So, I understand the Court's concern with that,

1 obviously, in forming the sentence. But at that point in time 2 he hadn't been convicted of the felony that's part of the 3 record as that relates to the Court today. And he didn't have 4 a firearm. There's no evidence that they shot at targets, at 5 government officials or people up there. And other 6 independent witnesses that day testified it was a benign day.

7 I understand the Court's concerns, but I do think that 8 there was a removal of my client from Mr. Boyd, and I want you 9 to take that into account when you formulate a sentence.

10 The other things were -- you know, the two Boyds -- the 11 Boyd sons received eight and nine years. And my client is 12 clearly more comparable to them than he is to Mr. Boyd.
13 Mr. Boyd is the head mobster, so to speak, by way of an 14 analogy. There's got to be somewhere in between sentencing 15 Mr. Yaghi without sentencing him to a mandatory life sentence, 16 your Honor.

17 Another basis, I believe, is that a lot of conduct in 18 this case is speech, and a lot of it's bad speech. A lot of 19 it's distasteful and unacceptable. None of it should be 20 posted on the Internet. Very little of it should be discussed in 21 group meetings. But a lot of people discussed these things 22 openly, and that's part and parcel of our culture.

23 And I'll be honest with you, I've sat here as well as 24 the Court did, and I think the Court knows my opinions. I 25 have great concern about discussions formulating a basis of a

1 conspiracy if it's talking about what my obligations are in 2 accordance with my religion. That bothers me. Speech bothers
3 me. And I look for more. This is the least I've had in a 4 conspiracy. I've tried quite a few of them. Normally, I have 5 active conduct where someone is shot at.

6 There were no bombs in this case. He didn't pick up
7 fertilizer and drums of diesel fuel. He didn't manufacture a 8 bomb. He didn't so much as manufacture a pipe bomb, your 9 Honor.

10 But I think in the grand scope of things, the range is 11 so wide in this case, obviously, I'm hoping you're going to 12 grant a variance. I know you're going to sentence him, and I 13 would ask that you sentence him to between 20 and 25 years, 14 your Honor. And there's not much logic to that. That's twice 15 what the Boyds got. That's more than Hassan got. And 16 obviously you feel like my client brought Hassan to Mr. Boyd 17 in some measure. I think you can conclude that. I disagree 18 with that. And that's less than the father, your Honor. So I 19 would ask that you do that.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 Does Mr. Yaghi want to say anything?

22 MR. AYERS: Yes, your Honor.

23 DEFENDANT YAGHI: In the name of Allah, the most 24 gracious and merciful. I'd like to thank Allah for the 25 blessing of Islam for allowing me to be a Muslim. And I'd

1 also like to thank Allah for my mother, the best mother a son 2 could ask for, who is praying for me day and night and has 3 been with me since day one, and has done everything in her 4 power to help me. I love her very much and I thank you for 5 her. And I ask Allah to grant her paradise.

6 And I would also like to thank the Muslim community, my 7 Muslim brothers and sisters, coming out here to support me 8 today, and my other brothers, and for those few individuals 9 who went the extra mile in helping my family and my mom 10 through these trying times. Allah knows who you are, and your 11 reward would be with him, inshallah, God willing.

12 Essentially, I'm here today for the assumptions and 13 understandings, or should I say misunderstandings, of Boyd.
14 He assumed a lot of things and he misunderstood a lot of 15 things, and I think that's clear to anybody who's paid 16 attention to his testimony.

17 And, in his mind, he might have assumed this, assumed 18 this, and misunderstood this, misunderstood that. But, in his 19 own words, he admitted that there was no conspiracy between me 20 and him, and I think everyone has failed to realize that.

21 The fact that I've spent less than a total of 24 hours 22 with Daniel Boyd, and that I may be sentenced to life in 23 prison for that short amount of time that I spent with him, 24 while his sons got eight and nine years, respectively, I don't 25 believe that is just and I don't believe that's fair at all.

1 And I was found guilty by a jury not of my peers, but 2 of complete strangers, who have no understanding of Islam, 3 Muslims or foreign culture. And I don't know whether that 4 guilty verdict was a product of their ignorance or should I 5 attribute it to the prosecution's grand job of kidnapping, 6 murdering and maiming the truth.

7 Although they did find me guilty, I maintain my 8 innocence, and I will do so till the very end.

9 And now it's probably time for you to sentence me to 10 prison, but a wise man once said that the one who is really 11 detained is one who keeps his heart away from his lord, and 12 the one who is truly a prisoner is one who is captive to his 13 whims and desires.

14 So, you may sentence me to life in prison, and they may 15 shackle me and cuff me and confine me, but so long as God 16 wills, my spirit and mind will always remain free.

17 You may think now that my life is in your hands that 18 you control my fate, but the truth is you don't, because 19 there's no power except Allah. You cannot do to me any good 20 or any bad except that he's willed. So, if you pass a 21 sentence on me, it's only that he has allowed you to, because 22 we are only human. And he has control over our destiny.

23 It is my obligation to inform you of a day on which no 24 soul will be dealt with unjustly, a day when you and I will 25 both stand before our creators, the judge of judges, and he

1 would judge between us.

2 And all of mankind, rich and poor, old and young,
3 famous and unknown, we'll all be begging for his mercy.

4 And those who have oppressed and transgressed will be 5 rewarded with what they deserve. And those who did works of 6 righteousness and acts of charity will be rewarded for what 7 they deserve.

8 And I'm also obligated to invite you to Islam, the 9 religion of truth, justice and sincerity, not the religion of 10 terrorism, like the prosecution would like you to believe or 11 the media would like you to believe.

12 And everyone here today will be a witness that you were 13 invited to the truth and that you are fully aware of the 14 truth. And also everyone here today will be a witness on the 15 day of resurrection so that you are fully aware that we are 16 believers in Allah and his last day.

17 And I bear witness there is no God but Allah and 18 Mohammed is his messenger.

19 VARIOUS SPECTATORS: Inshalla.

20 THE COURT: Would the government wish to be heard?

21 MR. KELLHOFER: Just briefly, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. KELLHOFER: The defendant has done probably 24 the best job possible of displaying to you a complete lack of 25 remorse for his activity, the activity and the statements and

1 the actions that occurred between 2006 and 2009.

2 It's one thing to stand here and claim what he believed 3 occurred, when the evidence that was presented to you, was 4 presented to the jury, and that you were able to hear was 5 pretty clear, and which supports a lengthy sentence in this 6 case.

7 This individual, throughout his activity expressed 8 quite a bit of bravado at the feds on the case and his ability 9 to avoid them. His statements that he's above the law, his 10 adoration for the actions of those in the battle of Falluja, 11 strapping themselves with explosives, and those -- those are 12 the individuals who are going to heaven, in his view. Waging 13 war is what he stated -- to settle the score with a sword is 14 what he stated. Propagating the works of Anwar al-Awlaki, 15 fighting the kuffar until there is no more disbelief.

16 Kuffar is one and the same -- Jew, Christian or 17 munafiq. And, according to him, at the time he doesn't care 18 if he's sentenced to life. Those were his words. He won't 19 give up his religion if you throw me in prison.

20 The problem is that what he believes, and clearly did 21 believe, was that violence is necessary. And I think there's 22 much truth to what my esteemed colleague, Mr. Ayers, has 23 stated with regard to Mr. Daniel Boyd. The fact of the matter 24 is these are the words and these were the activities of 25 Mr. Ziyad Yaghi.

1 He brings Omar Hassan to Daniel Boyd. He's responsible 2 for that. And it was very clear from the evidence why he 3 brought him.

4 He brought Jude Kenan Mohammad to Daniel Boyd, and, as 5 your Honor has recognized a few times throughout these 6 proceedings, how that turned out.

7 He stood up and made a speech at the Islamic 8 Association of Raleigh. And, as noted, that made an example.
9 You fix a car with a mechanic. Well, you fix the Muslim 10 problem with jihad.

11 This is a lot more than words. These are the things 12 for which he deserves to be punished for these crimes.

13 He traveled with a specific purpose during 2006 and did 14 so again in 2007.

15 The evidence is resplendent with examples of the harm 16 intended, of the hateful nature that existed, quite in 17 contradiction to the claims a few moments ago.

18 The fact of the matter is the government would 19 recommend, your Honor, that at a minimum Defendant Yaghi serve 20 a full 30 years' confinement.

21 Thank you.

22 THE COURT: Have I heard the defendant fully?

23 MR. AYERS: Yes, your Honor, unless there's 24 something you want me to discuss further.

25 THE COURT: Only if there's a matter that you want

1 to bring to my attention.

2 MR. AYERS: No, I think I laid the other bases for 3 departure in my sentencing memorandum for the Court to look at 4 ahead of the time. I think I concentrated on the main ones 5 today.

6 You know, a life sentence is just too long. I would 7 ask that the Court depart. I think you have wide discretion 8 in this case to do a that, based on the facts, as the 9 government would argue and as the defense would argue.

10 THE COURT: I want to fashion a sentence that 11 reflects hope for this individual, but it is a sentence that 12 must reflect the seriousness of the offense and his history 13 and characteristics.

14 And, as is noted, this is an individual who, for seven 15 years now, the last two, though, his criminal episodes have 16 been stopped by his incarceration. But he has demonstrated 17 that he does think he is above the law. He has evaded the 18 147th Judicial District, where charges that are very, very 19 serious and violent, stand still to be answered.

20 And the episode that occurred on the NC State campus in 21 2009, clearly -- a robbery with kidnapping and restraint of an 22 individual, while it may have been nothing more than video 23 games or something else, these propensities are very 24 concerning and give action to words that are expressed by this 25 defendant, a willingness to act on violent jihad, and a

1 motivation so to do given his abhorrence of those who are 2 nonbelievers.

3 When you open up his house book -- his house -- the 4 house of Facebook, the pictures on the walls are very 5 disturbing and the words that are spoken are disgusting.

6 The defendant's mobility, we don't really know what he 7 did exactly in Jordan, but we know that he went with the first 8 time having contacted Daniel Boyd in getting information about 9 where to go to meet people with like ideas and propensities, 10 and that he cared to solicit Daniel Boyd's guidance on nuances 11 of how to purchase plane tickets, how to travel around Jordan, 12 Israel, how to move around with prior discussions with Daniel 13 Boyd, and had the understanding that Daniel Boyd's taxi driver 14 was going to meet him and that he was actually going to be 15 able to visit sites with Daniel Boyd.

16 And we have someone who has protected Daniel Boyd and 17 produced for Daniel Boyd those children that you talk about 18 him preying on. Several of them have been put forward by your 19 client. One is overseas right now and is on the FBI's Wanted 20 List. And, apparently, with grounds.

21 So, it's a sentence that needs to reflect on that, that 22 needs to promote respect for the law, that needs to discourage 23 this type of conduct, and needs to provide treatment or care.
24 Your client has drug issues and he also needs to further his 25 education.

1 Pursuant to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 and 2 Supreme Court law, the Court, having considered the advice of 3 the guidelines particularly in this case and generally, and 4 the factors set forth in 18 United States Code, Section 3553,
5 imposes on the defendant, Ziyad Yaghi, with respect to Count
6 1, the sentence of 180 months, and imposes on Count 2 a 7 sentence of 380 months, to run concurrent with the sentence on 8 Count 1. So, the defendant will serve 380 months in custody.

9 He will be supervised for up to five years upon his 10 release. That's five years on Count 2 and three years on 11 Count 1, concurrently.

12 When the defendant is released from prison during this 13 term of supervised release, Mr. Yaghi, if you break any law, 14 federal, state or local, possess a weapon or drugs illegally, 15 you'll be in violation of the Court's judgment, and that could 16 cause you to go back to prison.

17 There are some other standard conditions and some 18 special ones.

19 While you're in prison I'm going to recommend you for 20 mental health treatment, I'm going to recommend you for the 21 most intensive drug-treatment program that the Bureau can make 22 available, I'm going to recommend you for educational and 23 vocational training.

24 I'm not responsible for doing more than recommending 25 when I think it's appropriate. It's up to you and it's up to

1 the Bureau of Prisons from this point forward. But if you'll 2 submit to some of those programs, it will be very helpful to 3 you.

4 When you get out of prison you will submit to a mental 5 health program. You'll also participate in a program approved 6 by the probation office for the treatment of addiction.

7 You'll consent to warrantless searches and cooperate in 8 the collection of DNA.

9 There's a $200 special assessment which is due.

10 I'm going to impose a fine of $8,000 in this case. You 11 don't have the ability to pay a guideline range fine. I 12 depart from that.

13 I've also departed from the advice of the guidelines on 14 Count 2.

15 I agree, I think life is devoid of hope for you, and I 16 hope, going forward, that the defendant, upon conclusion of 17 this sentence, can be a productive citizen.

18 The fine is due immediately.

19 I'll recommend him for Butner, anticipating that 20 request.

21 MR. AYERS: Yes, your Honor.

22 THE COURT: Is there anything else, Mr. Ayers, 23 that hasn't been considered?

24 MR. AYERS: No, your Honor.

25 THE COURT: And for the government?

1 MR. KELLHOFER: No, your Honor.

2 THE COURT: And from the probation offers?

3 PROBATION OFFICER WASCO: No, your Honor. Thank 4 you.

5 THE COURT: All right. This is a sentence that 6 the Court has fashioned, and now I advise you of how you can 7 appeal.

8 Mr. Yaghi, you can appeal your conviction if you 9 believe it's fundamentally flawed. You can appeal the 10 sentence, as well. You have these rights. To exercise them 11 you have to move within 14 days of judgment going on the 12 docket. Mr. Ayers will talk to you more about that, if he 13 hasn't already. And he will file a notice of appeal for you, 14 if you so instruct.

15 If you cannot afford the cost of an appeal, you can 16 apply to the Clerk for permission to appeal for free. And, if 17 you request, the Clerk will prepare the notice of appeal for 18 you. These are your appeal rights.

19 Mr. Ayers, would you ask your client if he has any 20 questions about those?

21 MR. AYERS: None, your Honor. He's requested I 22 file an appeal, and I'll do that within the time frame 23 allowed.

24 THE COURT: All right. So noted on the record, 25 and Mr. Ayers will follow up on that. And then there will be

1 a matter of ordering the trial transcript.

2 Mr. Subasic remains to be the tried, and he needs to be 3 tried as soon as possible. And after that, I reasonably 4 expect I'll be sentencing Daniel Boyd.

5 And that will conclude for this period of time the 6 matters at issue in this case.

7 Is there anything for the government, either -- any of 8 the attorneys?

9 MR. BOWLER: Thank you, your Honor. No.

10 THE COURT: Thank you.

11 MR. AYERS: Thank you, Judge.

12 (Proceedings concluded at 3:11 p.m.)

14 CERTIFICATION

15 I certify that the foregoing is a correct transcript of 16 the record of proceedings in the above-entitled matter to the 17 best of my skill and ability.
